GI Funeral Ship In U. S., Greeted By Solemn Rites

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10 (INS) — The advance guard of America's lost Army came home today. The Army transport Honda Knot steamed into San Francisco bay shortly before noon, carrying the flag-draped caskets of 3028 heroes who fell in the Pacific war.

COX. H. J. KOBIERSKI, USN
62 Forrester St., Salem.

Son of Mrs. Stacia Kobierski, he enlisted in the Navy Feb. 28, 1941, and served aboard the battleship North Carolina. He died Sept. 27, 1945, at the age of 27, and was buried in Hawaii. A graduate of the Salem public schools, Kobierski was one of three brothers in the service. He received the American Defense Medal and the World War II Victory Medal.

TRIBUTE BY MAINE

A special tribute to 1200 war dead of the state of Maine will be held at Augusta later this month, Gov. Horace A. Hildreth announced.

The Governor said he was calling a meeting Monday of veteran organizations throughout the state to discuss "appropriate means of paying tribute to our heroes being brought home from foreign soil."

He added the ceremony probably would be held in the Hall of Flags, State House.

The city was thronged with spectators—some of them mothers, widows and daughters of the returning war dead—as reverent ceremonies began on shore.

They are the first of 228,000 American war dead who will be brought from all corners of the world to find a final resting place in the soil they fought for.

The Honda Knot moved solemnly under the Golden Gate bridge at 11:37 a. m., with a naval escort at respectful distance and 48 military planes overhead.

Church bells tolled a re-echoing requiem as the funeral ship slipped down the channel to drop anchor off San Francisco's Marina Green.

MSGT. JOS. W. LEARY, USMC
88 Huntington ave., Boston

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Leary. He enlisted in the summer of 1942 and lost his life May 15, 1945, when he was 22, while training at sea with the Amphibious Traction, 3d Marine Division, in the Pacific. He was a graduate of Lowell High School, class of '41.

These Our Dead-- They Are Tardy, But Coming Home

By KENNETH L. DIXON

International News Service staff correspondent who served as war correspondent in both the Pacific and European Theaters of World War II.

Some of the boys are coming home today—some of the best of those who left so long ago. These are the tardy ones. They were not here when whistles blew as Hitler's fortress Europe finally fell. Nor could they come home to kiss the girls and celebrate when the Japanese surrendered and the long conflict was ended.

They were confined to quarters overseas—narrow quarters, for death had cut their orders and paused their passage home.

These are the dead who disembark today—the vanguard of a quarter-million men who fell, leaving footprints on three continents and a hundred isles, leaving bloody wakes and vapor trails to fade from foreign seas and skies.

These are the dead, so let this be their day!

The first wave brings some 3028 ashore at San Francisco, as the Army transport Honda Knot steams slowly through the Golden Gate, her hold full of heroes about to make their last Pacific landing.

The second wave comes soon, from Europe. Some 5800 more forever-silent men already are at sea, homeward bound from Antwerp aboard the transport Joseph V. Connolly. It's been a long

S. L. M. MASTROTOTARO, USN
1 Lyons st., Worcester.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mastrotoaro, Maurice enlisted in 1940. He lost his life aboard the U. S. S. Curtis as his ship tried to plow through withering Japanese power at Pearl Harbor and his family holds a plaque reading: "One of the first to die in action, Dec. 7, 1941." Born in Worcester, he graduated from Commerce High School. His ambition was to enter college.

SIGNAL HONOR

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10—Flags over the national Capitol and Senate and House office buildings are at half staff today as the first contingent of America's overseas war dead arrive in San Francisco harbor.

The flag tribute to the nation's hero dead marked the first time that honor has been accorded anyone except a deceased President or member of Congress, Capitol officials said.

9 Hub Heroes' Bodies Arrive

Bodies of 187 New Englanders, nine of them from Boston, were aboard the transport Honda Knot today as she sailed through San Francisco's Golden Gate to bring the first of the nation's hero dead of World War II back to their native land.

The arrival of the ship was marked by the firing of a 21-gun salute at noon from Ft. Banks in Boston Harbor.

Among the warrior dead brought back to the United States today was Lt. Thomas H. Jackson, USAAF, killed with an entire bomber crew when their plane was shot down over China, Dec. 18, 1944.

The son of Mrs. Cecelia J. Jackson of Alpha rd., Dorchester. He enlisted in 1942. He held the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with three clusters and the Purple Heart, awarded posthumously.

He was born in North Quincy and was graduated from the Bentley School of Accounting.

Another was Lt. Alex G. Shisko, USNR, of K st., South Boston, who has no known relatives here or in his native Poland.

Over-age and holding an essential job, Shisko enlisted in the Navy in 1943, and when 43 years old was killed in Moumea, New Caledonia, while with the 18th Naval Construction Regiment.

PFC. J. J. MARKEY, JR., USMC
148 High St., Medford.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Markey, he enlisted Nov. 9, 1942. Two days before his 21st birthday a sniper's slug snuffed out his life as he led a charge on the blood-stained island of Tarawa, Nov. 20, 1943. He was educated in the Medford public schools, attended Boston College School of Business Administration for a year and prior to joining the service was employed with a brokerage firm.

He attended the Durfee High School in Fall River and was working in the needle trade for a year before donning a uniform.

Mrs. Borin Calls Hub Beauty Latest 'Woe'

CHICAGO, Oct. 10—While her attorney whipped a divorce action into shape, Mrs. Claire Borin, 36, today reviewed for reporters her 13 years of marital strife with her millionaire husband, Nathan, leaping avidly into the latest episode which involves Pepper Donna, Winthrop, Mass., schoolgirl beauty. Mrs. Borin frankly stated that Pepper, known in her Winthrop days as Janet Shore, is heading the list of grievances she has against her hubby, but only because she is the latest in a long list of girls Nate has admired.

She found out about Pepper, a runner-up in the Atlantic City beauty contest, just a few days ago when she returned to her husband's swank Chicago apartment and found all of the beauty's clothing — along with a series of love notes and telegrams.

Nate Borin

But Mrs. Borin also has a bone to pick with Patricia "Saira" Schmidt, the dancing beauty who now is on trial in Havana for the shooting death of John Mee, 33, ex-Navy officer, Chicago. She claims Nate bought clothes for Patricia and also entertained her overnight in his apartment.

MET "SATIRA"

Mrs. Borin's sister, Mrs. Lillian Isaacs of Los Angeles, shared in the interview. The latter said:

"In September, 1946, Borin introduced me to Patricia Schmidt in the Silver Palm cafe where she was dancing. She came to our hotel suite the following day and stayed with him all night."

Mrs. Borin and Mrs. Isaacs told their stories to reporters behind a door bolted in the fear that an irate Nathan may break in.

Borin's presence has been felt, however. He ordered the electricity and phone service cut off.

During her 10-months stay with her parents in California, Borin never sent her a penny for support of Bonnie Joy, their 6-year-old daughter, Mrs. Borin said.

Borin, president of the Borin Art Products Co., has never given her more than three days of happiness, Mrs. Borin added.

The Borins were officially separated five times and made over 30 court appearances. The last was in November, 1946, when their cross-bills for divorce were dismissed.

WED IN 1932

Borin began his campaign to win the lovely-looking Claire back in 1932. She was living in California, when she was bombarded with letters, telegrams and calls from Borin in Chicago. She said: "I wasn't in love with him, but he was so persistent. I was persuaded to marry him. I knew it wasn't right."

After their wedding in Agua Caliente, Mexico, they returned to Chicago to live in a $40 a month hotel room.

In the three months following, she accompanied Borin on trips to other cities while he tried to build up his picture-frame and art goods business.

When they returned to Chicago, however, she declared:

"He left me alone for days at a time. We finally decided on a divorce."

There was a reconciliation shortly afterward when Borin

Sues for 15th Divorce at 40 And Right Man

BROOKS, Ore., Oct. 10 (AP)—Mrs. Betty M. Dunlavy, 40, who is now suing for her 15th divorce, expressed hope today that the "right man" might still come along.

Her divorce suit against John S. Dunlavy, 32, on a charge of cruel and inhuman treatment is pending in circuit court.

Flipping pancakes in the restaurant she owns here, the attractive brunette said 15 unlucky trials have not turned her against marriage.

"I have no prospects for No. 16 and I'm not looking," she said reporters. "But they do say life begins at 40."

She added, however:

"Variety is not the spice of life. One husband — if a girl could just find the right one — might be better."

Mrs. Dunlavy said:

"They're all different," said Mrs. Dunlavy, emphatically.

BEHIND THE 8-BALL—Henrietta, a Rhode Island hen, squats on a rack of pool balls in a Cambridge pool room just as she was found when the proprietor, Daniel Finn, opened the place today. A nearby poultry dealer was called, claimed Henrietta as his, and carted her off to the chopping block, thus ending the brooder's effort to aid the President's egg conservation plan. Rift With Luckman Denied by Anderson

By WILLIAM UMSTEAD

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (INS)—Agriculture Secretary Anderson moved today to heal a reported breach between himself and Charles Luckman, chairman of the citizens' food committee, over the administration's food conservation program.

Anderson acted after reliable sources reported Luckman told friends the agriculture secretary "pulled the rug out from under me." The food committee chairman apparently referred to Anderson's remarks in Chicago that meatless, eggless and poultryless days "are merely symbols."

Anderson, emerging from a cabinet meeting at the White House, said he "supports completely" the conservation program laid down by President Truman and Luckman's committee.

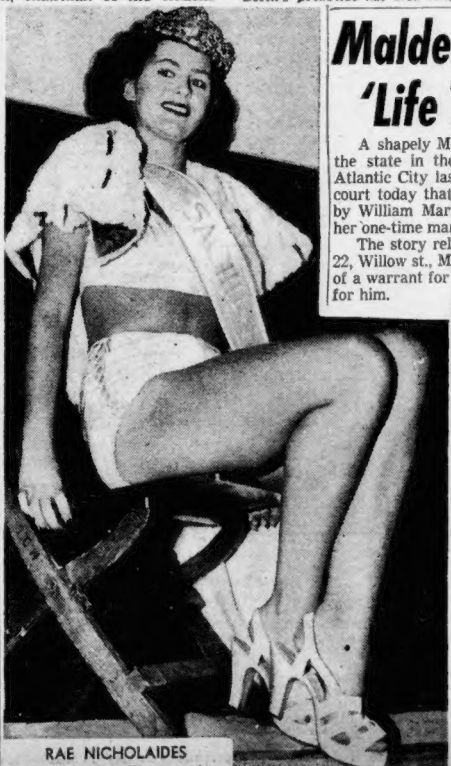

He said there was absolutely no divergence of opinion between himself and the President or Luckman and that he is in complete support of the need for meatless Tuesdays and eggless and poultryless Thursdays.

He was quoted in Chicago as saying saving grain was not the basic aim of the special days, vehemently denied that anything he had said could be construed as a difference of opinion with either Mr. Truman or Luckman.

Dewey Warns Against Neglect in Feeding U. S.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 10 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey warned the nation by radio today against "thoughtless or badly planned generosity" in feeding Europe at the expense of American health.

"We need and we want to do our honest share to feed hungry people overseas until they are better able to help themselves," Dewey said, but "we have at the same time a prior and a binding obligation to see that no American is poorly fed as a bitter result of thoughtless or badly planned generosity on our part. Millions of our families have already been scrimping on food to the limit."

RAE NICHOLAIDES
Says Her Life Threatened

Malden Beauty's 'Life Threatened'

A shapely Malden beauty who represented the state in the "Miss America" contest at Atlantic City last year, complained in Malden court today that her life had been threatened by William Marino, 32, Linden ave., Malden, her one-time manager.

The story related by Miss Rae Nicholaides, 22, Willow st., Malden, resulted in the issuance of a warrant for Marino. Police are searching for him.

The trouble all started last year, the attractive, dark-haired miss explained, when she was chosen as "Miss Massachusetts" at a contest at Revere Beach.

While she was preparing for the nation-wide contest at Atlantic City, she said, she was approached by Marino who told her she would get "nowhere" unless she had a manager.

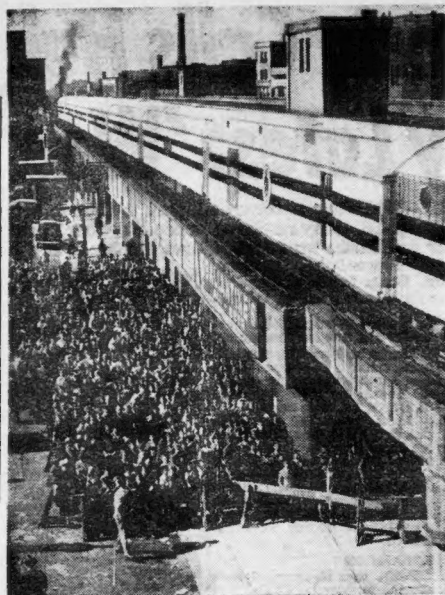

After some discussion, she said, she signed a contract naming him as manager.

But later, she said, she learned the contract was void because she still was a minor when she signed it. As a result, she said, she had refused to have anything further to do with Marino.

But he took another view of the matter, insisting that she go through with the contract provisions, she declared.

Not only that, she said, but he also interfered with her employment as a salesgirl, department manager and model on various occasions.

As a result of this interference, she complained, she had been discharged from several jobs. Nor could she see any brightness in a future which was likely to be filled with similar interference with her career, she asserted.

Andover Beauty, Charged With Stabbing, in Hospital

LAWRENCE, Oct. 10—Suffering from a mysterious illness, Miss Gwendolyn Roberts, 23, of Bixby ave., North Andover, beautiful divorcee involved in a stabbing affray, was a patient today at General Hospital here.

Three Harvard Students Injured In So. End Crash

Three Harvard students, all members of the Hasty Pudding Club, were injured early today when their auto plowed into a steel pole in Massachusetts ave. near Columbus ave., South End.

At City Hospital are Robert T. B. Davison, 22, of Warren st., Chestnut Hill; John Snow, 24, of Lancaster dr., Westwood, and John T. Chapman, 21, of Elliot House, Harvard.

Davison, the son of Robert H. Davison, a well known Boston lawyer, suffered possible internal injuries and cuts and bruises about the face. Snow received broken jaw and possible brain concussion while Chapman's right collarbone was fractured.

Standing nearby when the crash occurred was Seabury Quinn of Brooklyn, N. Y., also a Harvard student. He ran to the scene and assisted the victims from the wreckage.

She is considered in no danger and it is understood she will be well enough to go home within a few days. Her condition is officially termed fair.

Gwendolyn may be released in time to appear at a scheduled hearing in Haverhill court next Tuesday on a charge of assaulting with a knife her former husband, Clarence W. Hoyt, 24, of Coral st., Haverhill.

FACES TWO CHARGES

She also faces a second charge of assaulting with the same knife Miss Margaret Mello, 24, of White st., Haverhill.

Hoyt, in turn, is charged with assault and battery on his ex-mate. He gave her a shiner during a lively fracas at the home of Miss Mello.

Gwendolyn thought she had a date with Hoyt the evening of last Sept. 23 but discovered he was dating Miss Mello that night, police said. The auburn-haired beauty showed up at the Mello home, knifed Miss Mello, was knocked to the floor by a Hoyt punch, then stabbed him, according to the police version.

The Mello girl went to Hale Hospital with a deep gash in the left thigh, and Hoyt was treated at the same hospital for a wound in the left leg. Whether Gwendolyn required treatment for a shiner was not determined.

Gwendolyn was removed to Lawrence in the fire department ambulance, but a spokesman for

"We don't know the first thing about it."

The hospital said she was a private patient and the nature of her illness could not be disclosed.

Battle to Save Woman Hiccupping 10th Day

Miss Pauline Pfeffer, 40, of Shawmut ave., South End, who has been hiccupping steadily for 10 days, was being given sedatives at City Hospital today to quiet her nerves and permit treatment of her ailment.

Miss Pfeffer, who has suffered periodically with biceps since 1941, gained nationwide attention at the time of her first illness. Hundreds of letters and telegrams offered "cures" for the ailment.

Her latest seizure has resulted in the loss of 15 pounds and doctors fear the constant hiccupping—now at the rate of about 30 times a minute—may have weakened her heart. Sleep offers her only relief.

Dr. James W. Manary said that after she had been sufficiently quieted, she would be treated under an oxygen tent with carbon dioxide and oxygen.

Dad of 2 Gets Year in Jail On Charge of Girl Cousin, 18

The fact that he had a wife and two children won mercy in superior court today for William M. Gustin, 29, of Thomas pk., South Boston, who was found guilty by a jury of assault and battery with intent to rape his attractive 18-year-old cousin, Dorothy Gustin of G st.

Gustin's attorney, William Bullock, pleaded for probation, citing his client's five years in the Army. Judge William C. Giles replied:

"You know better than to ask me that. However, I'm going to temper justice with mercy. It was the intent of the Legislature that crimes of this nature be punished by imprisonment in State Prison, but for the sake of his wife and two children I'm going to send him to the House of Correction for one year. He can thank God he hasn't got some other judge up here today who would send him to State Prison."

Gustin's wife had burst into sobs when the verdict was read. His girl cousin charged the assault took place Aug. 1 on Strandway Beach, when she met Gustin the night after he was discharged from the Army and took a walk with him.

TRACTOR GOES OFF PIER

A 5000-pound tractor used in towing fish carts skidded over the edge of the Fish Pier this morning and sank in 30 feet of water after the driver, Alvin W. Rogers, 31, of Hayes st., Cambridge, jumped clear and landed on the dock.

Meyer Asks Blood Test in Paternity Suit

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (INS)—Chubby Johnny Meyer, Howard Hughes' "vanishing" press agent, pleaded not guilty by remote control today to the paternity charge filed by a former cigaret girl.

Meyer's attorney, Jerome Strauss, responded in his behalf when the case came up again in general sessions court. He said:

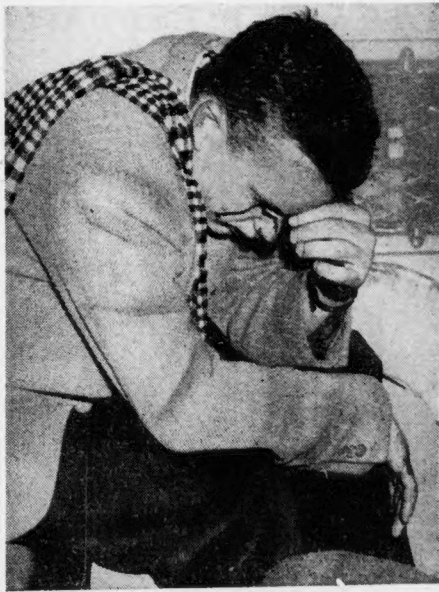

"We plead not guilty. We deny paternity of the child and we ask for a blood test."

The press agent, who gained widespread fame as a wartime party-giver and check-graber for the Hughes interests, has been accused by Patricia Miles of fathering her 8-month-old son, Douglas.

Counsel for the girl agreed to the blood test and requested the court to raise Meyer's bail from $500 to $5000. Justice Frederick L. Hackenberg denied the application.

Justice Hackenberg thereupon announced he would set a date later for the blood test, and fixed Dec. 4 as the trial date.

The blood test cannot prove paternity, but can deny it if blood specimens fail to match.

Austen Lake Returns To Battlefield Scenes

Austen Lake is in Europe again to write for New England veterans of World War II a report from those areas where they joined in battle with the foe.

In a series of articles beginning in Monday's Boston American, Lake makes his report in the same brilliant style that characterized his writing from the fronts where the fighting was heaviest—when it was heaviest.

He reports TO New England's veterans and he also writes OF New England's veterans, some of whom still are in Europe.

His series will be liberally sprinkled with names of New England's soldiers, many of whom have returned to this country from the regions he is visiting, many of whom still remain in the American occupied areas.

Kennedy, Malaria Victim, Sails Home

LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP)—Still weak but able to travel, young Rep. John F. Kennedy (D.) of Massachusetts was wheeled in pajamas from a hospital to an ambulance today to begin the trip home. He is suffering from malaria.

The son of the former U. S. ambassador to Britain will sail from Southampton tomorrow after a six-weeks stay in the British Isles, first part of which was spent in Elro, the greater part in bed.

Kennedy, a member of the House labor committee, came over here to study the Communist influence within the European labor union.

2 Ejected at Ballot Group Hearing on Hood Papers

After a stormy hearing during which opposing counsel clashed and two persons were ejected by police, the Ballot Law Commission today took under advisement a protest against the validity of nomination papers filed by Otis Archer Hood, candidate for school committee.

Shouts of "Communist" and "smear campaign" rang through the room in City Hall Annex even before the hearing began, as Election Commissioner Joseph A. Langone and Atty. Nathan Greenberg exchanged verbal blows over the fairness of the hearing.

Langone told the crowded hearing room:

"For the benefit of people of Italian extraction, I want to say I think the federal government has all your names. Your names are on the papers of a Communist."

Greenberg, counsel for Hood, protested and charged that the whole thing was either a "publicity stunt or an attempt to smear Hood."

John F. Welch, Homer st., East Boston, lodged the protest against the validity of papers filed by Hood, who in past years has run for various state offices on the Communist ticket.

Atty. Thomas A. Collins, counsel for Welch, told the commission he would show that signatures on Hood's papers had not all been witnessed by solicitors, that several hundred were false and that alterations had been made in the papers before they were filed.

Greenberg insisted the signatures were legitimate and said that his client, realizing that suspicion might be cast on some of them, had filed 6000 with the officials. The 2200 required by law were certified, he said.

Herbert Zimmerman, Allen st., West End, was testifying when Justice Davis B. Keniston of the municipal court, presiding at the hearing, halted the proceedings to warn Atty. Greenberg that he would be ousted if he didn't stop interrupting.

Commr. Langone made a remark and a spectator at the rear of the room shouted an insulting retort back. He was immediately ejected by police.

Hood and Welch were both called to the stand but questions asked of them were ruled out.

Bridal Gown White Satin, London Hears

LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP)—Princess Elizabeth's wedding gown, Britain's most tantalizing fashion secret, will be thick rich satin, pure white, with a high sheen, the London Evening News said today.

If the secret is out, the princess is going to be disappointed, a palace spokesman indicated. Reporters have viewed the materials for the gown, but were required to sign solemn pledges not to breathe a word of it until the wedding day, Nov. 20, when the heiress presumptive becomes the bride of Lt. Philip Mountbatten.

The Evening News indicated it knew all about it. The newspaper went on to say the princess chose "very fine silk tulle" for her wedding veil. This, the account said, was an "unusual departure for royal brides," who, in the past, have "nearly always worn family veils made from antique lace."

The bridesmaids, said the newspaper, "will also wear satin, though this probably will be cream-colored."

Arab Nations Rush Troops To Seal Holy Land Borders

BEIRUT, Lebanon, Oct. 10 (AP)—Troops of the Arab World were maneuvering into position tonight to seal off Palestine's frontiers, as the Arab League resumed talks on "military precautionary actions against Zionism."

Premier Riad Bey Es Solh of Lebanon said "our troops have moved to the frontier." Syrian sources said a large contingent of Syria's soldiers were massing on Palestine's northeast border.

Other sources said that British-trained troops of King Abdullah's Trans-Jordan were massing at a half-dozen points along the Jordan.

Lebanese war ministry sources said Fawzi Bey Kaukji, rebel leader of Palestine's Arab revolt of a decade ago, was mobilizing 3000 guerrillas for movement Sunday to the frontier and possibly beyond.

According to UN reports, the troop strength of the Arab states is as follows:

Egypt, 35,000; Syria, 13,000; Lebanon, 5500; Iraq, 25,000; Saudi Arabia, 5000; Trans-Jordan, 15,000; Palestine, two semi-military youth organizations.

Jews Demand UN Act On Armed Arab Move

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Oct.

10 (INS)—Jewish organizations quickly retaliated today against the plan of the Arab states to send military forces to the borders of the Holy Land.

The Palestine Resistance Committee, in telegrams to Sec. Marshall to UN Security Council delegates of other nations, demanded that the Arab countries of Syria and Lebanon be brought before the United Nations on charges of "openly preparing for a war of aggression."

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 10 (AP)—Guatemala proposed today that the United Nations Assembly create a small-country military force to be used against any "force which takes aggression against the people of Palestine."

CZECH 5-YEAR PLAN

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Oct. 10 (AP)—Premier Klement Gottwald announced today discussions would start immediately on a program for a five-year plan for Czechoslovak industry.

Plan Marriage Council for Bachelor Dads

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 10 (AP)

A professor of social science told the National Conference of Catholic Charities here that she proposed training of male social workers to counsel unmarried fathers in order that "stable" marriages might result from relationships with unmarried mothers.

Miss Opal M. Jacobs, a guest speaker, called in from Western Reserve University to address an institute of unmarried parents and their children, told the group:

"We believe that the unmarried father should not be made to feel like a criminal. Frequently the unmarried father is anxious to tell his story and we think he would prefer to tell it to a male social worker. As a professional man, the male social worker can help the unmarried father to evaluate his relationship with the girl. If the relationship is such that a stable marriage can exist, then, of course, we would advocate marriage."

Uses Underwear To Hang Himself

LOWELL, Oct. 10—Arrested early Thursday for drunkenness and placed in a cell at police headquarters, Joseph Wojcik, 32, a mill worker of Lakeview ave., was found last night hanged on the door of his cell.

Associate Medical Examiner Mason D. Bryant today reported death was due to strangulation.

Patrolman Edward Doughty, station turnkey, discovered the body when he went to take supper to the prisoner. Investigation disclosed the man had undressed and removed his underwear, and then redressed, before twisting the underwear into a noose and tying the loose end to the cell bars.

No Blanket Rent Hike Seen Imminent in N. E.

Rent control officials today assured tenants that there is no immediate possibility of a blanket rent boost in any district of the New England area.

At the local area office it was stated no recommendations for a rent high had been received from any of the district boards. While such recommendations under the law are sent by local boards directly to Washington, copies of such board action are also sent to regional offices.

Henrietta Fails to Call Shots, So She's Axed

Henrietta, an East Cambridge hen with not an egg to call her own, gave her life for President Truman's egg conservation campaign today after an all-night attempt to hatch a rack of pool balls.

She became the first hen in the United States to attempt the impossible for a White House plea and she had the pool balls reasonably warm after eight hours of squatting on them, when she was yanked off, squawking imprecations at her owner, reportedly a Republican.

Henrietta, a Rhode Island Red, was found brooding atop 15 pool balls on a table at the Lechmere Recreation Hall on the second floor of a Cambridge st., East Cambridge building.

She cackled a boastful greeting to Daniel Finn, proprietor, when he opened the place this morning. Finn ran downstairs to the poultry store of Harry Riseman, Lane pk., Brighton. Then they both ran up again. Riseman said Henrietta was his, all right.

As she looked up at him for some sign of commendation, some indication he would recognize she had plenty on the ball, he seized her by the neck and took her from her ivory nest.

"She must have been here all night," he told Finn. "Obviously she is a brooder. She won't lay eggs—just wants to sit on them." Henrietta flapped her wings on the way to the block and filled the stairway with feathers but it was futile. She had been caught behind the eight-ball, though pure of motive, and she wrung her claws for humans in general even as the axe descended.

Naval Reservists Urged To Submit Suggestions

Members of the Naval Reserve were urged today by Rear Adm. M. L. American Weekly Tells Slave Story

Massachusetts launched the movement to abolish slavery in America a century ago, but ironically, a Negro slave was held in bondage in the freedom-loving Bay State as late as a few months ago.

The irony of this situation will be the theme of "Slave in the Cradle of Liberty," interesting article about Mrs. Elizabeth Ingalls, Beacon Hill and North Shore socialite, and her recently freed slave, Dora Jones.

"Slave in the Cradle of Liberty" will be published in Sunday's American Weekly, great magazine distributed with all editions of the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Lawrence Hotel Owner Stanwood Dies

LAWRENCE, Oct. 10 (AP)—Herman D. Stanwood, 57, owner of the Hotel Commonwealth, died today after a long illness.

Born in Annisquam, Stanwood sailed out of Gloucester with the fishing fleet as a boy of 14 and later was in charge of the life saving station in Boston Harbor before the Coast Guard took it over.

walt in European graves, but in 10 days or so the ship will sight old Liberty's tall torch and they'll be home again.

(Remember that soul-sickness on embarkation day—how some swore, some wept, some prayed as that skyline slipped away?)

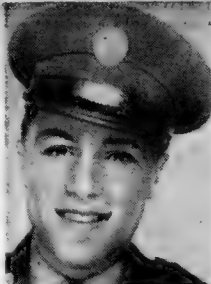

Some of their fallen buddies will remain in foreign soil, for the next of kin could decide in every case whether to bury their loved ones at home or overseas, in private plots or military cemeteries.

MEN FROM ALL RANKS

Many others lie beneath the sea, while others vanished in a flash of bursting flame, and still others never will be found. For them there is the solemn service for the missing and the white cross in memory.

But the others due finally to be brought back will follow in the months and years ahead, as they uproot countless crosses overseas and keep the line of flag-draped caskets moving homeward.

(Remember how they laid bodies in a line on the hillside south of San Pietro? And how the platoon sergeant whose buddy lay at one end of the line saw them start loading the weapons carrier with bodies at the other end and started laughing wildly? "Migod!" he shouted. "He's still got to sweat out a line! Lucky he's dead or you'd be catching hell!" The grim-faced registration crew ignored him.)

Today's first wave carries men from all ranks, proving perhaps that death was never bucking for promotion. And in that respect, the dead who disembark today seem somehow representative of all those still sweating out the long homcoming line behind them.

BROTHERS COME HOME

There is Marine Major General Charles D. Barrett, an old time leatherneck veteran of Vera Cruz, the Meuse, Argonne and New Caledonia where he died in 1943. Next of kin: Mrs. Emily Barrett of Alexandria, Va.

There is Army Pvt. Charles E. Gilliland, killed in New Caledonia, who named his brother Ralph second beneficiary for his GI insurance. But he didn't know that Ralph, a Navy medical corpsman serving with the Marines, was doomed to die before him—in the waters off Kwajalein. The two of them were coming home together on the Honda Knot, to their mother, Mrs. Mary E. Johnson of English, Ind.

(REMEMBER HOW BITTER WE USED TO BE ABOUT THE BOYS WHO FELL IN SOME DEBACLE—THE ONES WHOSE DEATHS SEEMED SO FUTILE SINCE THEY CAME DURING DEFEATS?)

There are heroes of our worst disasters on the Honda Knot—men such as Navy Capt. Mervin S. Bennion, skipper of the U. S. S. West Virginia which lay at anchor in Pearl Harbor one bright December day in 1941.

STAYED ON BRIDGE

When the planes came, the skipper was on the bridge. He stayed there, directing the firing, even after he was hit and badly wounded. He scorned aid, sent the medical corpsmen to take care of the men, refused to go below and, with his blood rushing out faster than sand from a broken hourglass, stayed propped up on the bridge of his ship, directing the fight—until death removed him from command.

They gave him congressional Medal of Honor to the next kin, Louise C. Bennion of Salt Lake City, Utah.

(Remember the boys who went to pieces right at the end, who said: "I've always been scared, but now I'm going crazy—for fear that a lucky shot will get me right now, when it's almost over. I'm suddenly so scared!" and you knew what they meant.)

If Marine Lieut.-Col. Aquilla (big red) Dyess was ever scared, he never let it show, and certainly he didn't expect to get it there on Namur Atoll, Feb. 2, 1944. Technically, the fight was over and the so-called "mopping-up" phase was concluding.

CHOPPED HIM DOWN

As usual, Big Red was bossing his hard-bitten battalion of leathernecks from out in front. Eternal cigar in his mouth, he was lunging ahead in built-like rushes,

FRED E. RAWSON, ECC
Longworth Rd., Worcester.

A veteran of World War I, and a widower, he tried to enlist at the age of 55, but was rejected because he did not meet the physical requirements. Determined to serve his country, he joined the Engineering Civilian Corps, and was sent to Pearl Harbor in 1942. He died of a fractured skull suffered in a Navy Yard accident, Sept. 27, 1945, while repairing war ships.

leading charges on the few remaining resistance pockets, when an ironic last bullet from a hidden sniper chopped him down.

Big Red is on the boat, but his posthumous Medal of Honor preceded him home to Augusta, Ga. (Remember the bitter arguments about which was the toughest theater, and how the Pacific boys cursed the heat, and the C. B. I. pilots cursed the jump, and the E. T. O. boys cursed the cold? But they all agreed you could get it anywhere.)

It was hot in the Central Pacific late in 1943 when a tropical fever took the life of Pvt. Thomas J. Baluh, but it was cold in Europe two winters later when his two brothers, members of the same infantry company, were killed in action on the Western Front.

He's on the Honda Knot. They're on the Joseph V. Connolly. And to the sorrowing Baluh family of Larksville, Pa., one war theater was no better than the other.

ALONG WITH TYPEWRITER AND CAMERA — REMEMBER HOW, AS THE LANDINGS AND THE MISSIONS AND THE COMBAT LINE TIME PILED UP BEHIND US, WE'D WORRY ABOUT RUNNING OUT THE STRING, PRESSING OUR LUCK TOO FAR? BUT THEN, THE TIME CAME TO MOVE UP...

The list of landings and combat line operations was long behind Staff Sgt. John A. Bushem, Yank Magazine Photographer, fighter and writer. His itinerary had included Hawaii, Makin Atoll, Kwajalein, the Fijis, New Guinea, New Georgia, Tarawa and countless other places.

DIED OF WOUNDS IN ACTION

By the time he hit the beach at Eniwetok Atoll, his graphic pictures had brought the war grimly home to thousands of Americans, both in uniform and in civvie. Also, his luck had run out.

He got several good pictures of the landing, and his captions on them were as terse as the War Department notice which tells how his war coverage ended: "Died of gunshot wounds and shrapnel in action on Eniwetok Atoll, February 19, 1944."

Johnny's also on the Honda Knot, coming home to Gary, Indiana.

Those are but a few of the men in the first two waves, but their stories are similar to the rest. And those who disembark today can well be representative of all the dead—and this can be their day.

(Remember your bitter anger at the grim, mass, mechanical burial of the dead during battle? You knew it was necessary, that they were taking every identification precaution, and that the burial squads were heroes, for the job drove many a soldier crazy, but there was something unfair, indecent, utterly without dignity about the bedeck "coffers" and the brisk burlap—often sped by falling shells in the cemetery.)

There will be solemnity today and fitting ceremony, and in the days to come, each body will be escorted across the country to its final resting place and re-buried with all military honor.

It's hardly the homecoming any of them had planned, although they all knew it might be this way. And perhaps this may help make up to them for the hurried manner in which they first were laid away in foreign soil. And it may mean much to families.

But there can be no last look now at faces of loved ones, for the caskets will remain closed.

THIS IS A DAY TO REMEMBER EACH MAN AS HE WENT WITH INDIVIDUAL HONOR, WITH DIGNITY, WITH BROW AND WITH PRIDE.

Murray, CIO Board Pledge Aid to Shipyard Strikers

Philip Murray, president of the CIO, meeting with his executive board today in preparation for next week's ninth annual convention, announced that the organization was pledging its full moral and financial support to the 17-week-old strike of shipyard workers.

"The issue is not one of money," Murray said, "but of the unwillingness of the Bethlehem and U. S. Steel Companies to continue an old seniority system, which has been in effect for many years."

Murray said all locals would be called on to aid the shipyard workers in the strike, which involved between 35,000 and 40,000 workers on the east and west coasts. About 5000 of these are employees of the Quincy and East Boston yards of the Bethlehem company.

As the convention opening at Hotel Bradford drew near, a fierce battle between right and left wing factions was expected in an effort to crush Communist elements in the organization.

Murray already has conferred with Abp. Cushing, the opening day speaker, on the clamping down on subversive elements. Left wing leaders also were reported having trouble getting anywhere with the resolutions committee and in other pre-convention sessions.

Argentina, Cuba Strike at Reds

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 10 (INS)—Argentina and Cuba joined Chile today in adopting security measures against Communism amid indications of organization of a Latin-American anti-Communist front.

Bolivia and Brazil have approved proposals for co-ordinated legislation in the Western Hemisphere to hamstring Communists.

President Peron ordered Argentine federal police to prevent Communists from instigating disorders.

Cuba has outlawed a major section of the Confederation of Labor led by Communists.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Oct. 10 (AP)—Police reported that shots were fired today at the Soviet embassy, breaking shutters and glass windows of the second-floor apartment occupied by an attaché.

The bullets came from a passing automobile and sounded as if fired by a machine-gun. The shooting came about 24 hours after a government statement reporting Communist activities.

Chilean police were reported from Punta Arenas (Magallanes) to have arrested a Yugoslav on charges of trying to start a packing house strike.

Love for WAC Tripped Vet Held in Theft of Atom Photos

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (INS)—Love for a WAC, coupled with his desire to divorce his tall, blonde wife, was disclosed today in the arrest Wednesday of Ernest Paporello for the alleged theft of confidential atomic bomb photos.

Paporello, 29, an Army photographer, and George Willington Thompson, 42, of Riverside, N. M., face charges of having stolen the contraband films from the government's Los Alamos, N. M., atomic bomb plant.

The romance angle of the case was revealed by the FBI and backed up by Paporello's mother-in-law, Mrs. Louise Lindke, who told how her daughter, Mildred, 29, mother of the photographer's two children, came across the forbidden film in a Union City, N. J., garage.

"They were happily married for seven years," Mrs. Lindke said.

"Then, all of a sudden he wrote her that he had fallen in love with a WAC with whom he was working in Los Alamos, and wanted to marry her. He asked my daughter, who was a stenographer before she married him, to get a divorce.

"It was when he wrote home for her to forward some of his personal effects in storage, that she came across the photos involving the atomic project. She showed them to an Army captain working at the same secret government office in New York where she is employed, and he turned them over to the FBI." Mrs. Lindke said her daughter has filed for a divorce.

Mass Baby Kidnap Lenied by Nazis

NUERNBERG, Oct. 10 (AP)—Thirteen men and one woman, charged with abducting thousands of eastern European infants during the Nazi regime, pleaded innocent today before a U. S. war crimes court. Their trial opens Oct. 20.

The accused were officials of the SS Race and Settlement Office and of the main staff of the Reich commissioner "for the strengthening of Germanism."

U. S. prosecutors assert they snatched children, murdered easterners considered racially inferior to the Germans and compelled those who mated with Germans to live abortions rather than "non-ryan" children.

Detectives Fred Markini of the Cambridge police testified there had been an epidemic of such thefts in the past month at the two colleges.

He said the defendant admitted taking the bicycles, riding them to Boston, and then pawning them.

'Jet' Gun Instead of Needle Used for Injecting Medicine

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 10 (AP)—The University of Tennessee College of Medicine disclosed today a new and almost painless method of injecting medicines through the skin. A "jet" operation that may de away with the fearsome needle.

The injection is made with a flashlight-size gun called a hypodermic gun that fires a medicine-filled bullet about the size of a .22 caliber cartridge.

A fine spray of almost microscopic size is forced under pressure through the skin into the body tissues.

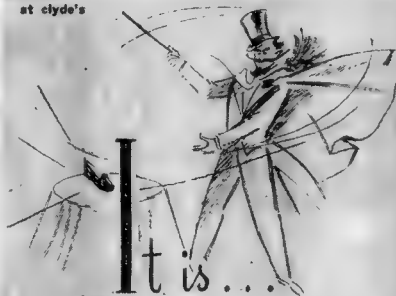

The bullet is filled with the dosage, which is shot through an almost invisible hole in its nose. Pressure of the bullet making a hole in the skin about one-fifth the size of that made by a hypodermic needle.

The hypodermic gun has been used successfully for injecting insulin.

confessed that he "couldn't live without me." But, she said:

"He couldn't change. He still liked night-clubbing and eating out every night."

On her first wedding anniversary, Nov. 11, 1934, Claire said, Borin failed to come home. The next day when he did arrive, she told him she was leaving for California.

She was there several days when letters and telegrams began to arrive again, she said. She ignored them.

Later, she began dining out with a friend of the family, Eph Asher. When Borin learned this, she said, he flew to California.

She returned here, started separate maintenance proceedings. He instituted a $500,000 alienation of affection suit against Asher.

Claire said:

"I finally agreed to go back to him when he promised to drop the alienation suit. Mr. Asher was a fine man and there was nothing between us but friendship."

In 1935, the Borins moved to their present home. Mrs. Borin didn't learn until last year that the Asher case was not dropped until 1936.

One night soon afterward, Borin failed to come home. His office told Mrs. Borin he was in California. She filed a bill for divorce, charging that he threw ashtrays and dishes at her.

MET BY "PEACHES"

The same evening, she said, reporters told her that Borin had been met at the San Francisco airport by "Peaches" Browning.

Ten months later, Borin again induced his wife to return to him.

The night Borin brought his wife home from the hospital after the birth of the baby, Bonnie Joy, June 18, 1941, he walked out of the house.

She said she learned then that the day the baby was born Borin had entertained three young women in their apartment.

On a trip to Florida in July, 1945, Bonnie became ill and was hospitalized. Borin promised to take the first train or plane to Florida, Claire said, but he never came.

She filed suit for divorce on her return.

Later in July, 1945, Mrs. Borin received a message to call her husband at North Side Hotel. A woman answered the phone in his room. Claire said:

"I jumped into my car and drove there. I burst into the room and there was this woman lying nude on a couch. Borin offered me $10,000 to forget what I had seen."

NO 'F. D. GARDENS'

LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP)—The ministry of works disclosed today it had reversed its decision to give the name of "Roosevelt Gardens" to the West End site where a statue of Franklin D. Roosevelt is being erected.

He lost his life aboard a ship off the Marshall Islands Feb. 10, 1944, when he entered a gas-filled chamber in an attempt to rescue a buddy.

He was 32 years old and had participated in virtually every Pacific battle.

offshore, a composite Army-Navy band played a dirge.

The honor guard of 2000 troops—500 Navy, 500 Marines and 1000 Army—stood at attention behind the greenery-draped stands.

A white Coast Guard cutter led the slow parade of ships into the bay. Behind her was a Navy destroyer, then the Honda Knot, followed by a second destroyer and an Army tug.

The four-vessel escort moved in to describe a semi-circle around the funeral ship as she swung into position for the ceremonies.

A flight of P-80 jet planes flashed over the ship at almost mast height. The Air Force was honoring the dead with America's best planes—a type they never saw in action before they died.

Other military aircraft crisscrossed the skies in flights of four, speeding over the Honda Knot from mall angles.

Equally a tribute to all was a Presidential wreath, composed of leaves from all over the country, to be hung on the Honda Knot as she anchored in the bay.

Following the Marina ceremonies, the Honda Knot is to steam slowly across the bay to the Oakland Army Base where the bronze coffins and urns are to be unloaded and placed on funeral trains for the journey to 15 distribution centers.

From these distribution centers scattered across the nation, the men are to be sent to family burial plots or to national cemeteries—whichever the family desires.

AFL Studies Move
To Demote Lewis

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10 (INS)—The high command of the American Federation of Labor prepared to push through a change in the AFL constitution because John L. Lewis refused to sign a non-Communist affidavit under the Taft-Hartley law.

A constitutional amendment eliminating the federation's 13 vice-presidents was being drafted for submission to the 66th convention in San Francisco on order of the 15-man executive council. If the amendment is adopted the vice-presidents will be listed only as members of the executive council.

This will enable the council to continue to represent some 292,000 members of AFL federal unions which operate under direction of the council and still make it possible for the federal unions to resort to the National Labor Relations Board facilities.

CANINE SOLOMON

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 10 (AP)

—'Twas a great to-do about a Great Dane, but Superior Judge Caryl M. Sheldon's split decision made everyone happy.

Judge Sheldon ruled the dog, Frea, can remain with her present owners, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Chapman, but the former owners, Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Johnson, may have their pick of her recent litter of 11. Moreover, the Johnsons are to receive another litter after Frea is bred to a Great Dane of their choice—at the Chapmans' expense.

Actually, the court ruled in favor of the Chapmans, who said they bought Frea from a pound. The Johnsons said they lost the dog while on vacation.

MARINE MEETS PHONY WHO ROBBED HIM

WESTOVER FIELD, Oct. 10—One happy Marine was Cpl. John G. Canavan of the Bronx, who said a million-to-one shot came through when he caught up with the Good Time Charlie who took $90 from him after a tour of Manhattan night spots.

Canavan said he was home on furlough from duty in Guam and had purchased a train ticket for his return to the West Coast when he ran into another Marine who was also headed West.

The stranger, Canavan said, told him he was "Lt. Reese" and offered to drive him to California to save rail expenses. He explained a shortage of ready cash by saying he had a government check for $560 but could not cash it as he was not known in Manhattan banks.

Canavan said he cashed in his train tickets and the two Marines went on a tour of New York night life. They hired a room, but when Canavan woke up in the morning he said his new friend and his remaining $90 were gone.

The corporal was advised to try aerial hitch hiking and he flew here in an Army plane to try for another hep to California. He slept here overnight, and who should he meet on the field in the morning, he said, but "Lt. Reese." Canavan grabbed the man.

"Men are so unreliable! I called Herbert, to break my date... and he said he'd forgotten all about it!"

World Church Uniting All Faiths Plan of Pastor Here

A United Church of America embracing 80,000,000 Protestants of this country and flexible enough to embrace other churches of the world, including the Roman Catholic Church, was envisaged today by Rev. Dr. E. Stanley Jones of India, on reaching Boston after a 35-day tour of the nation in behalf of such unification.

Such a united church would give a moral authority which could prevent an atomic war, Dr. Jones told several hundred clergy and laymen at a City Club luncheon.

"We are not asking the denominations to sacrifice their beliefs," he said. "We want to bring their differences into the union."

Under the plan, 256 denominations in the U. S. would become branches of the United Church of America, he declared.

The United Church would embrace denominations of other countries, Dr. Jones said, and would be flexible enough to allow diversity in the branches, "having as one of its branches the Roman Catholic Church, if it would agree to be such."

The missioner who has been working on this plan for the past 12 years, told the gathering that the majority of people he met from coast to coast agreed with the need of such a plan.

Dr. Jones will speak this evening at Trinity Church, Copley sq., before another group interested in unification.

Our Heroes Return To Lie in Native Soil

THE GREAT gray U. S. Army transport Honda Knot has brought the advance guard of our heroic World War II dead to San Francisco Bay.

And soon, across the country for which they fought and died, will come the 187 New England members of that guard, to sleep forever in the communities they knew and loved in life.

They died in the Pacific. They are the sons who became our saviors in the dark years between Pearl Harbor and V-J Day.

We cannot think of them as dead.

It is better and truer to feel that they are living, their spirits a vital part of our own lives, their ideals and hopes abiding with us perpetually by God's special grace.

Our blessings of freedom and liberty and happiness we owe in substantial measure to these martyr-patriots who offered and gave all.

Let us therefore honor them with ceremonies as solemn as our grief and as sincere as our gratitude.

Let us join their wives, parents and sorrowing relatives in the memorial services Sunday afternoon, October 19, at Boston Arena.

Let us inscribe them on our own hearts by reading their brief stories on these pages.

THIS IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY

THE VISIT of the Freedom Train to Massachusetts, with a two-day stop in Boston, is opportunity of a lifetime for the citizen to see and understand the precious documents which have given him the greatest and best country the world has known.

When he reads the United States Constitution and the Bill of Rights in their original drafts he cannot fail to be a better and more appreciative American.

It is particularly important for school children to go through the Freedom Train, studying all its exhibits; and the experience will certainly be one that they will treasure in grateful memory as long as they live.

Thanks to Attorney General Tom Clark and the other distinguished sponsors who believe that patriotism should be a vital, living thing, the Freedom Train is a shrine with wide-open doors.

No person can afford to ignore its challenging invitation, and few will do so.

STRANGE SILENCE

THE War Assets Administration has rejected all bids for the purchase of Passamaquoddy Village at Eastport, Me.

We can only hope that this action will not cause Senator Owen Brewster and other eminent New Englanders to lose interest in the hydroelectric power aspect of this project.

Practically all the newspapers of Maine and many of those of New Brunswick have called on their public officials to hasten the completion of Passamaquoddy by the negotiation of a treaty between the United States and Canada.

This would give the two countries a million horsepower of the cheapest electricity in the world to attract new industries and to reduce the present unnecessary drain on the continent's dwindling petroleum reserves.

Despite this convincing proof of widespread popular interest in the possibilities of Passamaquoddy, the various office-holders of Maine, with the conspicuous exceptions of Senator Brewster and Congresswoman Margaret Chase Smith, have been disposed to treat the matter of low-cost electricity as though it were something that had to do with the North Pole or the Sahara Desert.

No special session of the Maine Legislature has been announced.

No adequate appropriation for the 'Quoddy Authority has been made.

No visit by Governor Horace Hildeth to Washington or Canada in the project's behalf has been contemplated.

It is true that the people of Maine are shocked, shamed and very much angered by the recent United States Census report which shows that their per capita income is the lowest of all the New England States, although their natural resources are the most numerous and valuable.

NEEDLESS LOSS

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK, now being observed throughout the nation, will save thousands of lives if its lessons are remembered and applied to everyday living.

After the tragic experience of the Coconut Grove disaster, Massachusetts made a little overdue progress in the direction of safety by the enactment of a few sensible laws and the elimination of the more dangerous handicaps.

Nevertheless, the regular and repetitious loss of life and property from fire is almost discouraging, particularly when we read, as we so often do, that whole families have been wiped out by flames spreading from faulty heating equipment, exploding gas and wrongly installed electric wiring.

Clearly, therefore, the first duty of all householders during Fire Prevention Week is to investigate conditions on their own property and to make whatever repairs and replacements are needed.

This is more essential now than ever before, since the housing shortage has caused a considerable amount of overcrowding, as well as the toleration of makeshift arrangements which would be prohibited in a period of normalcy.

It is said that absence conquers love!

But, darling, believe it not.
I've tried its power to prove
But you are not forgot.
Lady, though fate has bid us part,

Yet still you are as dear,
As fixed in this devoted heart
As when I clasped you here.
FREDERICK W. THOMAS.

MEN AND APES are the only animals that kiss. So states a man of Science. I have seen dogs get together with something that looked very much like a kiss... There is a post office branch in Los Angeles that is never closed. A Californian claims it is the only post office in the country open daily on a 24-hour basis. A fine idea. There should be night and day post offices in all cities.

PASSING BY: Arthur Treacher. Brilliant British comedian. One of my great favorites. Always gets a laugh out of me. In private life Arthur has quite a reputation as a cook. His specialty is that dish known as bubble and squeak. He is also said to concoct meat pies quite cleverly... Vivienne Segal, the Philadelphia nightingale, made her first hit in "The Blue Paradise." I believe her leading man in that opus was Cecil Lean. If not, I am stuck for one more stogie. I have seen Vivienne in nearly all the many shows in which she has appeared and liked her best in "Pal Joey."

ALL DAUGHTERS: Of 15 women in three generations of a French family none has had a son. All have been the mothers of three or more daughters. None of the 15 husbands of these women has ever heard a nurse cheerfully cry: "It's a boy!" This would indicate that daughters and sons might predominate in some families. I will have to check regarding this in the families of Eddie Cantor and Bing Crosby.

QUITE SO: It was Alice Duer Miller who so rightly stated: "If it is painful for you to criticize your friends you're safe in doing it. But if you take the slightest pleasure in it that's the time to hold your tongue."

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: A San Franciscoan claims that during the war the United States government bought millions of dollars worth of watches from the Swiss to keep them from making tools for Germany... Note the Hollywood designer Adrian has announced he is not for the long skirt style. He better not be. His wife, Janet Gaynor, is very much on the petite or cute, little trick side. If she wore long skirts she would look like a little girl playing house.

SAYS SHE: "So, you say the Gay Nineties were not so gay in this country? That it was in reality a dull period in our history," writes a feminine subscriber. "You don't know what you are talking about. I do. I was there, Eddie. I was a young woman in the Gay Nineties. I had a wonderful time. In those days no one had to get drunk to make their evening complete. Smoking among women was practically unknown. Women were fully feminine, sweet smelling and sober. They could cook, manage homes skillfully, rear children efficiently and spend their time trying to make their family happy, rather than in beauty parlors which make freaks of most women. I have never been in a beauty parlor in my life. I look 15 years younger than my age."

PLEASE NOTE: A man to watch and be wary of is one who chews on the end of his spectacle holder while in a business discussion. He keeps the spectacle holder in his mouth so he will have to take it out before he speaks. This gives him a chance to think before making a statement he will regret. As I previously reported, men who keep pipes in their mouths in business conference have the same idea in mind. Cigar and cigarette smokers, non-smokers and non-spectacle wearers beware. Take along something you, too, can chew on to prevent your popping off thoughtlessly while discussing business with one of the characters aforementioned.

PLEASE NOTE: Was recently reported here that a man, who grew a prize cucumber two feet long, stated he believed it due to the fact he "fed it" dregs from a beer barrel." Now the winner of a contest for tall chrysanthemums says he used beer dregs to make her chrysanthemums grow. I am getting interested in the many uses to which beer can be put. Maybe I'll save up to buy a brewery instead of a ranch.

TIME TO RETIRE: A man named Michael Moore applied to the Manchester, Eng., relief committee saying: "I have worked hard all my life but I think it is about time for me to retire on a pension." The relief committee did not argue with Mr. Moore on that point. His birth certificate revealed he was 125 years old!

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—The Russian government had a definite purpose which they believed worthwhile in starting their campaign of personal slurs against President Truman.

Westbrook Pegler

The calculated purpose of this nastiness was to provoke repartee from our side.

Recent experience in similar situations with Hitler and Mussolini may have had no influence toward our involvement in the war, but the odds are that it did.

They ribbed us and we ribbed them back. Then the row got louder and rowdier and there was just no hope of a handshake until the usual proceedings had been had in the cellar of the saloon or out behind the signboard.

When that happened, we just didn't know our own strength.

So we knocked the bums dead and now find ourselves tempted by your charitable nature to support their wives and children indefinitely. Our charitable nature is likely to be the ruin of us yet.

But what would they be doing for steak and potatoes if there were no such nation as the United States? If we didn't exist, what then? There never was a sucker like us on earth before.

IT IS NOT A COMFORT to know beyond any false reassurance that Russia has singled us out as the great enemy in the next World War. But it is better to know this than continue to escort Russian scientists and technicians through our plants, showing them everything, while they sneer in our faces and refuse to show us so much as a screwdriver in their country.

RUSSIA CAN'T INSULT the United States. They might get our goat, but you are not insulted by something offensive on your shoe. You are disgusted and annoyed but not insulted. If we do let them get our goat, they win the punning or heat because that plainly is their purpose in running this program. Then we have allowed them to move us into position for the next poke.

If we keep our temper, however, we outscore them. First, we deny them the effect that they have tried for. And, moreover, at last, we have made them count themselves in a way that cannot be "interpreted" harmlessly even by Eleanor the Great, who now ought to get out of public life, having done harm enough in gratification of any selfish individual's vanity.

The Russian government has led at us with gratuitous declarations of hostility to the people of the United States who cannot be distinguished apart from their government because we are it. That is not exactly a comfort to any of us, and it is least pleasant to the mothers of American boys between the ages of 12 and 15.

This was the age bracket of most of the American fighters of the second great war at the time that Eleanor's husband sent to Germany a seedy and misanthropic old mediocrity named William E. Dodd, who did his damnedest to see that those children must fight on Russia's side against the Germans, and finally had his way.

It is better to know this and be warned than to continue to let any person give imperious orders to rat-gray flunkies in our State Department to admit Communist enemies to our country in the guise of friends and persecuted refugees.

Moreover, there is something to be gained from the Russian swipes at President Truman and our national intentions.

Practically all that Stalin said, through a journalist called Boris Gorbato, which may be a house name used by a dozen hacks on the staff of the Literary Gazette of Moscow, was either quite true or within a shade of the truth. It was nasty but true.

If you speak of Harry Truman's bow-tie and his high-water pants with a smile, no harm is done.

All that about Truman and Pendergast was true, too, and I have written it just as mean myself. Mr. Truman can blame himself for any hurt he suffers for this now.

ALL THAT WAS WRITTEN about the sordid and cynical corruption of the vaunted "democratic process" at the Roosevelt convention of 1944 is true, sparing inaccuracies which make the whole no more than a pamphlet.

It was a disgraceful proceeding and the worse for its enactment by a lot of mocking fakers who made a fool of the common man and fooled him so lastingly that even today millions of him would fight you in defense of Roosevelt's name against the slightest imputation.

"Hello, Police Headquarters? I think you oughta know that the crime wave has reached 31 Oak st."

Broadway's Voice 37

By Dorothy Kilgallen

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 10 (INS)—Sam Goldwyn isn't letting the fact that "Gentleman's Agreement" reaches the screen first down him. After calling off "Earth and High Heaven" because it was too similar in theme, Sam has changed his mind and will make it. And listen to this: Gregory Peck, who stars in "Gentleman's Agreement," remains the star of Sam's picture.

This casting I can't quite see. Why Peck? Not that I want to do Greg out of a good part—but it seems to me another star would make Sam's production more original.

But I must say, Goldwyn has certainly got himself a top writer for the script, Elmer Rice, whose name has been magic on Broadway for years and who had two hits last year in a musical version of his "Street Scene" and "Dream Girl." Will adapt Gwethalyn Graham's novel of intolerance about a Canadian girl whose family objects to her marriage to a young Jew. Rice hasn't been here on a movie job since 1933 when he adapted his own play "Counselor at Law."

AUNT BIRDIE, the wistful dipsomaniac in "Another part of the Forest" (my pet character in that unscrupulous story), will be played by Betsy Blair, who is Mrs. Gene Kelly in private life. Of course, this forebodes a "The Little Foxes" shows Birdie before she took to snappings to drown her troubles with her awful family. Gene's pretty proud of the Mrs. you bet.

By the way, Freddie and Florence March get here next week to star in the picture for Universal-International. Wonder if Freddie will bring along the Oscar he won for "The Best Years of Our Lives," to bring him luck on his new picture.

VAN HIEFLIN, whose nose was a little out of joint when he returned from the service because MGM loaned him out so much and didn't use him in their pictures, has nothing to cry about now.

He has a great part in "Green Dolphin Street" and has plenty of good roles coming up on the home lot, among them, "Upward to the Stars" with Ava Gardner, who gets prettier and prettier.

Yes, this is the story originally bought for Robert Montgomery and Audrey Totter, but changes had to be made when Bob moved over to Universal-International. Bob Leonard, however, continues in the directorial spot.

WHILE I WAS on the Ingrid Bergman set, I met Father Paul Donceur, who came all the way from France to act as technical advisor on "Joan." He told me he had written to France to recommend "The Englishman John Ford's picture, because he felt his countrymen would feel as he does about it.

Fr. Donceur said Ingrid Bergman was a perfect Joan, because she looks like a peasant girl and yet has a spiritual face. He suggested to Victor Fleming that the colors in the picture be soft pastel, which they are, in both costume and decoration.

"I am sure 'Joan' will be as fine a picture as 'Henry V', which is one of the great motion pictures," he said.

Ingrid told me how Fr. Donceur happened to be their technical adviser. A priest who lived in the town of Damremy, Joan of Arc's birthplace, wrote and offered his services. After Walter Wanger inquired about him, Fr. Donceur was recommended as France's greatest authority on St. Joan.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Some time Friday or Saturday the long drawn out alimony battle of Johnny Weissmuller and his wife, the former Beryl Scott, will be settled.

Mrs. Weissmuller filed her intention to divorce some time ago and as soon as the papers are signed her attorney, Charles Katz, will seek an interlocutory decree for her.

Settlement, which has been drawn, agrees that Johnny pay her 25 per cent of his annual income for life. He also agrees to take care of the house expenses and has given her the home.

Mrs. Weissmuller told me today she hoped she could file for an immediate divorce. Frank Belcher is representing Johnny, who is in Mexico. Brian Donlevy, who has been in the newspapers frequently of late with the legal battle he is having with his wife, has been asked to play George Washington, our hero who never told a lie.

In fact, Al Gershenson flew to Detroit to get the Donlevy name on a contract to play "First in Peace," first of a serial which covers Washington's career as soldier and statesman.

The whole feature is to cost $300,000 and will be told serially with the first half titled "Young George." The government has given permission to shoot Washington's home at Mount Vernon, that spot visited by so many Americans.

When I heard my close and good friend, Richard Lyon, was signed for Connie Bennett's son in "Smart Woman," I thought how much he resembles Connie's own son, Peter Planie, when Peter was his age.

I know Richard is getting a kick out of going to the Allied Artists lot to make this picture. He always warns his father, Ben Lyon, who is casting director at 20th, not break the "scoop" on his activities.

In other words, what a casting director picks up around his dinner table about outside deals—is strictly confidential.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random: Marie Windsor and John Champion, who was engaged to Cathy Downs for five months, at a table for two at the Somerset. Didn't take Champion long to forget Cathy.

Joan Bennett had a bad three hours today hunting for a valuable diamond ring. She finally found it on the finger of Stephanie's doll. Georgeje Windor is putting in Palm Springs and won't come back until Harry Cushing finds a house. How difficult can you get?

Neeley Vanderbilt paying ardent attention to Patricia Marshall at Margaret Ellinger's cocktail party for Liberty Magazine editor, David Brown. Pat is Jeanette MacDonald's niece, and when I told her she ought to be in pictures, she said she wasn't interested.

Sally Cobb looked awfully pretty in a black hat with feathers and one of the new style dresses. She says Bob will be home in a day or so. He has been in New York at the World Series.

Mrs. Erich Korngold says that after three weeks her husband, the noted composer, is on his way to recovery, but he is too ill to go to Vienna where revival of his opera, "The Dead City," is scheduled. It's good news that he is recovering.

Keenan Wynn and Ruth Cosgrove, the magazine writer, have been doing the town together.

Kirk Douglas and his wife go to Bermuda next month to attend the unveiling of a memorial to Mrs. Douglas' late father, Col. Thomas A. Dill, former attorney general of Bermuda.

Olivia De Havilland lost 10 pounds during the filming of "The Snake Pit" and is now trying to gain a few back.

Edmund Lowe and the ex-Mrs. Dwight Hish, a twosome at the Corone. First time Ed's been out without Lady Furness in days.

Sympathy goes to George Chandler, well-known motion picture actor, in the death of his mother, Mrs. Abigail Chandler, who passed away today.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—Jane Deering, the Broadway ballerina, will wait down the aisle with John Scullin Sullivan Oct. 25. He's a handsome and wealthy lad from St. Louis.

Midtown police are waging that the Sari Gabor Hilton robbery case will make juicy front-page reading before it's solved.

Lili Damita, the erstwhile Mrs. Errol Flynn, is being wooed by Jim Gaston, a realtor with coin. . . Harry Richmond's first movie in more than a decade is the result of an old romance. Producer Joe Pasternak, whose wife was once reported to be Richmond's fiancée, has signed with MGM. It all came about as a result of Dorothy Pasternak introducing hubby to ex-beau, and their subsequent great friendship. . . Lou Holtz has returned to the scene of his crime: he still feels that way about Toni Farrell, the Carnival belle. . . A downtown night club owner is worrying his friends. He's had two narrow escapes from death via sleeping pills.

ACTRESS Georgeje Windor, calling a friend in New York to relate her troubles with Harry Cushing, said she definitely intended to seek a divorce from the Vanderbilt heir. . . LaMartiniere, which nurtured such spotlight favorites as Danny Kaye and Danny Thomas, may do it again when the new show opens Thursday. They have still another new-to-New York comedian ready for unveiling in the new show opening Thursday night. His name is George Gobel, and since his honorable discharge from the Army Air Corps not so long ago, he has clicked in the supper sport of the Midwest. He's blond, clean-cut, and said to possess a completely original approach to comedy of the un-censorable variety.

ISN'T FAME fleeting? Chandler's Chop House christened a pastry "Cookie Lava-getto" last week. They've taken it off the menu already. . . Vic Orsatti, while here for the World Series, spent part of his time calling Pat Vanier (the blonde model-stalwart) on the Coast. . . The Old Knick Music Hall, which features silent movies and Gay Nineties entertainment, is collecting souvenirs of the good old days. Any with any mementos to donate from gas lamp posts to a Rudolph Valentino nightshirt—is invited to send it along. The address is 2nd ave. and 54th st. . . Turn-han Bey, who was en route to the Coast last week, changed his mind. The reason? Marilyn Towne, the blonde warbler at the Boulevard Cafe.

THERE'S an interesting story behind Babe Didrikson's decision to turn professional after her husband assured the press she would remain an amateur. . . Intimates say Milton Berle and Joyce Matthews have agreed, in a series of long-distance conversations, to wait until she takes a fling at the flickers before doing anything about a divorce. If she succeeds, the status of the marriage is up to her; if she fails, she promised to come back and devote herself to being just a wife, they say. . . Margaret Truman's latest—and handsome—companion has the Capitol gossips in a tizzy. But it's just the new Secret Service man assigned to protect her. . . Joe Louis will recoup his restaurant losses in short order (no pun intended) via his royalties from the soft drink bearing his name.

A LAWYER has been engaged by the prospective producers of the musical version of Edgar Allan Poe's life to track down Poe's relatives and settle all claims before rehearsals start. . . Tamara, the Fifth ave. cosmopolitan, gives her customers champagne to drink—as part of her beauty treatment! I love this; can't help it! The house organ at one of the radio-activity labs is called Up and Atom. . . Broadway film business is way down. They blame it on the series, such as Virginia Gahagan, whose divorce suit was recently headlined in the spicier gazettes, is now modeling hats at a famous Gotham atelier. . . Art Shaffer, Loni Anderson, Leslie House, now passes out champagne like S. Billingsley. The other evening one lass got a bottle because he liked her hairdo; a masculine client received same because he was wearing a snappy suit, and actress Jean Parker rated the bubbly because she smiled so prettily at the headwaiter.

GOVERNMENT heads are quietly trying to stamp out the bookmaking that goes on in government offices. Word is that there isn't a building in the capital where you can't get a bet down. . . Perry Como, Gladys Swarthout and two other name singers will do operatic quartets (including a comedy version) at the Musicians' Emergency Fund benefit show at Madison Square Garden, Oct. 28.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10—We were sitting around our hotel the other Thursday after a hearty breakfast of no eggs, going through our regular morning routine. The little woman was debating whether to have the windows washed or wait until after the next rainstorm (because a rainstorm always dirties the windows and what is the sense of having them washed with just get dirty again?) and I was trying to tune her out so I could concentrate on the morning papers.

The little woman had just got to the point of deciding to wash the inside of the windows herself and save the outside until the next prolonged drought when I looked up and asked if we had a pair of wet scissors in the house.

She said we had dozens of pairs of scissors around the dump, some of them with two blades, but that any damfool knows they should never be kept wet.

"Then," I murmured, sadly, "we can never stir along with President Truman and his new White House menus. We cannot have coffee mallow!"

THE LITTLE WOMAN halted her window-washing debate.

"I wish," she grunted, "you would reserve that stuff for your office. What is hell—and any of my childhood friends will tell you I never talked like this before we were married!—Is coffee mallow?"

"It is something the President is having for dinner on Thursdays now that he is eschewing eggs and poultry. It is undoubtedly nourishing and economical, calling only for 16 marshmallows, half a cup of hot coffee, 1 cup of heavy cream and a half teaspoon of vanilla. . . Brownie!" howled the little woman. "Are you aware that heavy cream is 41 cents a cup?"

"Is it?" I said. "That is most enlightening. And what are marshmallows being quoted at on the international bazaar?"

"You can take—no, I won't let you get me steamed up! I will be calm. What hate wet scissors got to do with this horrible concoction?"

"To cut the marshmallows." I explained patiently. "The recipe provides for Mrs. Mary E. Sharpe, executive housekeeper—not just the ordinary housekeeper, mind you, but the executive—of the White House. In plain, flat, executive terms she states:

"Cut marshmallows in quarters with wet scissors. Add coffee. Cook in double boiler until melted. Cool. When beginning to thicken, fold in cream beaten stiff and add vanilla. Mold in dessert glasses. Serve of Now, be patriotic and wet a pair of scissors."

The little woman started for the hall closet and I asked her what she was up to.

"I am going to get a vanilla mallow," she snapped, "and beat you stiff without adding vanilla."

"What about the wet scissors?"

"That," leered the little woman sinisterly, "is where you get stuck!"

IT ALSO pains me to report that the little woman does not think much of the rest of the White House menus. First of all (and I quote) she is damned if she is going to get fat as a pig having both cheese soufflé and chocolate pudding for lunch, and the same woman was under a Republican administration.

Then—continued she—the kind of cheese you use in a soufflé is 69 cents a pound and if I don't believe her I could call up Mr. Rector, the grocer. I asked if this was the Mr. Rector who used to run a famous New York restaurant of the same name and she said she didn't think so because what would that Rector be doing around our neighborhood?

By George Dixon

"Moreover," she added, "you will never get me and other housewives with penpushing husbands to cheer for the rest of the President's Tuesday menu because it calls for salmon steaks, which is 69 cents a pound when you can get it, and sautéed eggplant, which takes butter."

"And, as for on-eg Thursday, the President is waffling baked ham, which costs $0 cents a pound, just for the ham, to say nothing of the brown sugar, cloves and pineapple; although some women get along without the pineapple, but personally I think it makes all the difference."

"All the difference between getting this case over the head or keeping your big mouth shut until I finish."

37,400 Out as Auto Plants Close

DETROIT, Oct. 10 (AP)—Shut-downs attributed to a shortage of steel will idle approximately 20,000 Chrysler Corp. workers and 8000 employed by the Briggs Mfg. Co. next week.

About 9400 more workers, employees of Hudson Motor Car Co., will remain away from work during a model changeover.

Chrysler announced that assembly operations at its Dodge and De Soto divisions would be halted tonight and remain down through the week. The company's Plymouth Division, as well as two Briggs plants, closed Oct. 3 and will not reopen for another week. Production at the Chrysler division of that firm will be reduced 30 per cent.

However, some 5500 production men employed by General Motors Corp., Cadillac division, will be recalled Monday after a two-week layoff blamed on a car frame shortage.

China Marks Republic's Anniversary in Despair

SHANGHAI, Oct. 10 (AP)—China celebrated her 38th anniversary as a republic today in an atmosphere described by U. S. Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart as "a widely prevalent mood of cynical despair."

There were no celebrations, parades or demonstrations. The government was putting into force its austerity program to husband the nation's strength for the civil war with the Communists.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

CHIEFMAN, 1947, King Features Synd., Inc.

CHARLES A. BEARD, formerly professor at Columbia University and the author of a bookshelf of the most profound studies on the subject, raises the issue of faking history.

"Uncle Charley," as we called Beard when he taught us what the Constitution meant to say, is one of those tough fighters who goes after a fact with all the excitement of a big game hunter. He abhors the lie, the bluff, the fake and the trick.

His most recent roar against fraud is in the Saturday Evening Post, where he calls attention to the fact that the American government, in partnership with the Rockefeller Foundation and the Council on Foreign Relations, is fixing it so that these historians who slant their stuff to fit State Department policy will be permitted to look at the so-called secret documents. Other scholars will have to wait a generation or more until they can get a look.

MEANWHILE, the American people will continue to be hoaxed as they were over Pearl Harbor and the Singapore, Teheran, Yalta, Moscow and Potsdam conferences. Here, in gist, is Prof. Beard's gripe:

"The Rockefeller Foundation and the Council of Foreign Relations... intend to prevent, if they can, a repetition of what they call in the vernacular 'the debunking journalistic campaign following World War I.'"

"Translated into precise English, this means that the Foundation and the Council do not want journalists or any other persons to examine too closely and criticize too freely the official propaganda and official statements relative to 'our basic aims and activities' during World War II."

"In short, they hope that, among other things, the policies and measures of Franklin D. Roosevelt will escape in coming years the critical analysis, evaluation and exposition that befell the policies and measures of President Woodrow Wilson and the Entente Allies after World War I."

So THE COUNCIL, subsidized by the Rockefeller Foundation, has hired Prof. William Langer of Harvard to write "a clear and competent" history of World War II. And apparently the State Department will come across with "exceptional access to materials bearing on foreign relations."

Beard says: "The professor confirms it in the preface to his recent volume—'Our Vichy Gamble'—a spirited defense of the Roosevelt administration's policy in dealing with Vichy France. He undertook this work at the suggestion of Sec. Hull, who was disturbed by press attacks on the Vichy policy. For use in preparing it, he was furnished secret documents or digests of such documents by President Roosevelt, Sec. Hull, Adm. Leahy and the War Department."

IN OTHER WORDS, here is monopolistic scholarship, the sort of thing Hitler did and Stalin does and which we in America criticize so freely in others. Who, in the government, has a legal right to establish such a monopoly? By what act of Congress?

Charles A. Beard says of it: "... Instead of promoting the liberty of research... subsidized histories of this kind, prepared to serve a purpose fixed in advance, are more likely to perpetuate errors than to eliminate them. At best, in such complicated affairs as World War II, truth is difficult to discover and establish... Official archyope must be open to all critizens on equal terms, with special privileges for none; inquiries must be wide and deep as well as unencumbered; and the competition of ideas in the forum of public opinion must be free from political interests or restraints."

THIS IS a suitable subject for a congressional committee. The Morgenthau diaries, as far as they go, disclose that the American people were fooled plenty. The Pearl Harbor investigation and the Morgenthau book, "Pearl Harbor," prove that we were deceived.

Sec. of State Hull's memoirs, about to be published, will disclose, beyond doubt, that he was often out of touch with American policy as Morgenthau alleges. Let us get at the truth—without slanting, without policy, without monopoly to favored groups.

Trees Surviving A-Bomb Grow Two Years in One

TOYKO, Oct. 10 (AP)—All trees, which lived through the atomic bombing of Hiroshima showed two years growth in a year, Bunriku University scientists reported to Kyodo News Agency today.

The agency said, however, scientists working at Hiroshima could find no instances of increased crop production, such as other scientists reported recently from atom-bombed Nagasaki. On the contrary, they said, plants in general were smaller.

Hurricane Experts Watch New Blow

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 10 (AP)—A tropical storm with "potentialities" of becoming more severe was centered today in the north-western Caribbean sea about 500 miles from Miami. It is expected to reach the vicinity of western Cuba late tonight.

The weather bureau reported in a 10:15 a. m. advisory that the storm's strongest winds near the center were 30 to 40 miles an hour, with heavy rain squalls covering an area extending 200 miles. The bureau said the storm did not amount to a great deal as yet, but there were indications it would increase in intensity and may give trouble later.

Hurricane hunting planes poised at Schenectady, N. Y., were kept informed of the progress of the storm. The Navy announced yesterday that they were now ready to take off on a moment's notice to drop dry ice and other chemicals in an attempt to dissipate it.

A hurricane hunting plane reported to day that winds in the storm had increased to 50 to 60 miles an hour. It was the first contact with any of the planes sent into the storm to investigate. A more complete report is expected when they return to base at Jamaica.

O'Neil Says Legion to Name Communist Front Groups

Special to the Boston Evening American
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10—James F. O'Neil, National Commander of the American Legion, disclosed here today that the Legion is embarking on a new anti-Communist drive.

O'Neil came from Washington, D. C., to address the American Federation of Labor Convention today.

He said the Legion would soon make public a list of Communist front organizations operating in the United States.

TO NAME PERSONS

"By putting the spotlight on these groups," he explained, "we hope that the liberals duped into joining Communist front organizations will see the light."

"We don't want the drive to become a witch hunt, but we plan to make public the names of those persons who, willingly or unwittingly, are members of the Communist movement in the U. S., and who use their influence to further any subversive movement."

O'Neil declared his conviction that the Communist Party is not a party but "an international conspiracy."

"In place on the ballot is merely a cloak for its operations," he added. "It is evident that it has not made too much progress so far, except in isolated areas—chiefly metropolitan areas such as San Francisco, New York, Los Angeles and Detroit."

POINTS DANGER

The 49-year-old chief of the American Legion is the Manchester, N. H., chief of police, on leave until his Legion term expires.

He believes that fellow travelers are much more dangerous than out and out Communists, and that the most dangerous Communist infiltration has been in educational institutions, particularly teachers' colleges.

Vintage Time Celebrated

By MARTHA LEE
Household Editor

IT IS VINTAGE TIME in California, and this colorful harvest is being celebrated from coast to coast during National Wine Week, Oct. 11 to 18. It is the seventh annual observance of this special week, and it seems like an appropriate time to review some of the little points which help in the enjoyment of wine in the home.

There are surprisingly few things to know about it. First of all, there are just five classes of wine—appetizer, red table, white table, dessert and sparkling wines. And in these five classes there are 12 distinct types that are well known in the United States. Briefly, this is the way they line up: Sherry and vermouth (appetizer); claret and burgundy (red table); sauternes and Rhine (white table); port, muscatel, angelica and tokay (dessert); and sparkling burgundy and champagne (sparkling).

HOW TO SERVE THEM

It is now perfectly "correct" to serve the wines you and your guests like best, in any way at any time. Because of certain taste harmonies, however, most people prefer appetizer wines with appetizers and soups, red table wines with steaks, roasts, chops, game, pasties and heavily flavored foods; the white table wines with seafood, chicken, eggs and lighter dishes; the dessert wines with fruits, nuts, cookies, cakes and cheeses, and the sparkling wines with appetizers, the main course or dessert.

Serving wine is as simple as serving any other beverage. The bottle may be passed around at the table, the guests helping themselves, or the host or hostess may pour as with the coffee. In this case, it is customary to pour a bit of wine in the host's glass first. A slow turn of the bottle before raising it from the glass helps prevent dripping. Wine glasses are decorative and practical as the table, but special wine glasses are not necessary, for wine tastes the same from any glass.

With food conservation a "must," wine becomes increasingly important in the kitchen. Some of the finest recipes in the world are those that developed in times when food was scarce and wine was used to glorify leftovers and the less expensive foodstuffs available.

The purpose of wine in cooking is that of seasoning and flavoring. Wine contains certain salts and sugars which point up the natural flavors of food. And the alcohol in wine, just as the alcohol in vanilla, evaporates and passes off in cooking. The wines which go best with certain types of food at the table must always go best with those same foods in cooking.

Fish cakes, always a budget standby, take on company elegance when featured with this white wine sauce.

WHITE WINE SAUCE

(For Fish)

- 3 tbsp. butter or margarine
- 1 green onion, minced
- 1/4 tsp. dry mustard
- 1/2 tsp. sugar
- 1 tbsp. lemon juice
- 1/2 cup solid-pack canned tomato (or dried fresh tomatoes)
- 1 cup white table wine
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 1 tbsp. sweet pickle relish

Saute the onion in the butter. (Include part of the green top).

Add mustard, sugar, lemon juice, tomato and wine. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Let simmer 15 to 20 minutes. Add sweet pickle relish, heat again, and serve with fish cakes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

ROAST CHICKEN

Baste a roasting chicken occasionally with 1/4 cup melted butter and 1/2 cup of warm sauternes wine. Baste turkey with claret wine.

IN THE ASCENDENCY to a bright spot in fashion's spectrum is this type of 5 o'clock dress with tiny waist, new soft shoulders and lower hemline. Also because its charming simplicity doesn't overshadow Hadner's rich satin brocade from which it is made. Its beautiful stiff fabric of the type so widely used in the recent Paris collections makes possible . . . with a minimum of padding . . . the accentuated hip silhouette.—R. M.

Oil Bath Aid to Loveliness

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

TRYING TO IMPRESS a woman that she can walk in loveliness wherever she goes . . . assured and poised . . . in an aura enchanting not only to her but to all those around her . . . is not an idle gesture on the part of a beauty editor summoning sweet and pretty words at her command and dishing them out to the typewriter.

It becomes a fact when a woman accepts the suggestion and indulges herself with a grand all-over feeling, scented bath . . . especially one in which a highly concentrated bath oil is the chief ingredient. Once a woman enjoys a bath-oil bath, she'll never go back to the prosaic method of the simple cleansing process.

That silky-skin feeling is an exclusive aftermath of the bath oil bath . . . a relaxing and revitalizing ritual which makes a woman feel femininely important. You know that such an indulgence is strictly for women . . . and you thrill to the luxurious feeling it produces. And feeling so grand . . . your spirits are enlivened to the wish and will to dress up and look grand. Yes, even glamorous and "slightly amorous."

To our way of thinking . . . Hardy Amies, that amiable and charming gentleman of the ultra-select British couture group . . . hit the nail smack, squarely on the head when he stressed his point that "seductiveness is the primary object of woman's dress." If it is . . . and maybe you'll agree with me secretly, if not publicly, that he's SO right . . . it behooves fair damsel to start the alluring process at the very source. You'll want to look alluring when you feel so alluring in a tub . . . your body bathed in unguents and fragrances in very much the rich, leisurely manner. So from your wardrobe closet . . . you choose a gown that naturally gravitates to the most glamorous, most utterly feminine selection you own. The hustle-bustle of a busy world will be far removed. And you'll instinctively want to prolong the mood of elegant luxurious nonchalance in the way you walk . . . the way you talk . . . the very pose you strike.

There's such a wealth of power in the power of suggestion . . . and the suggestion of beauty in a bath-oil bath is strictly personal. Interpret it your way with a particularly versatile bath-oil. If you are a shower addict . . . don't feel you can't enjoy and experience a similar pleasure.

For the name of this versatile, highly concentrated oil, phone the Beauty Dept., Liberty 4000, daily except Sunday, or write me, care of the Boston American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

BEAUTY and the bath should be the title of this photographic study. The model's face seems to imply she anticipates . . . not only the prosaic cleansing ritual . . . but an excursion into personal loveliness because when she emerges her body skin will be silky smooth and soft . . . and she will be personally enveloped in an aura of elegant fragrance for long-lasting hours. It's a highly concentrated bath oil that makes it possible!

Must Learn to Look Ahead

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

IF THERE WERE only some way by which young people could be made to understand that the present moment is far from the whole of life, they would save themselves a great deal of needless tragedy.

Fortunately, some young people seem to realize this by themselves, and accordingly proceed cautiously through their youth. But there are all too many others who can see no further than the temptation to take what they want at the moment, and in so doing, make mistakes whose aftermath can shadow their whole lives.

A girl who is beginning to realize something of this writes me as follows:

"I am going rather steady with a boy who respects me a great deal. Recently he told me he loved me, and I honestly don't feel worthy of him."

"I am 19 now, and when I was 17 I thought I loved a sailor and was intimate with him. Is it the time to tell this boy about this? I am not quite sure what his reaction would be, but I am so afraid to tell him, because he has put me on a pedestal. What shall I do?"

I know that many people will not agree with me, but I believe that, in most cases, it is wiser for a girl to let the man she thinks of marrying know about a thing of this kind in advance of their marriage. Naturally, I don't mean that she should just go ahead and blurt it out on the spur of some impulsive moment. She should, of course, find an appropriate opportunity for such a highly personal disclosure.

The fact that the conventions are different in the case of the man who may have engaged in such affairs before his marriage, has nothing to do with the point. Undoubtedly it is unfair that this should be so, but to protest the unfairness is not to change it, nor to change the results of what might happen if a girl left to chance the possibility of her husband finding out a thing of this kind after their marriage.

For whether we like it or not, the fact remains that society still condemns a girl for what is tolerated in a man, and most men, however "modern" they pride themselves on being, side with society when it comes to their own personal life. Theoretically, they may consider that a girl has the same right as they reserve to themselves to live as she pleases while she is still single. In practice, the average man wants to be the first to be intimate with the girl he makes his wife.

If he discovers, after they have been married, that he is not the first, there is something about human nature that is apt to make him forever just a little apprehensive that she may not always be faithful to him, and the smallest grain of mistrust keeps any marriage from complete happiness. Even if the girl tells the man that she has had an affair before she marries him, he may still never wholly trust her, even though he assures her that it makes no difference. And that is the risk a girl is running when she lets herself be swept into a pre-marital affair.

Happily, there are men, with character enough to understand how a thing of that sort can happen, and perhaps the one about whom the correspondent quoted above writes me is that type. The best I can do for her is to tell her she had better find out before she marries him.

Magic In New Hat

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

DR. BLANK'S Magic Elixir, guaranteed to cure a hundred ailments including warts and ruptured appendix, hasn't had half the tonic effect on women as that really magical remedy, a new hat.

When a woman is sure a man has broken her heart, a new hat gives her enough courage to go out and get another man. The fact follows the fancy: wearing a gay and light-hearted hat, she is gay and lighthearted, too. When the weather is gray and sloshy for weeks on end and when everything disappointing that could happen does happen, then is the time for a beautiful, extravagant hat.

Hats beat the Irish at flattery. Nothing can touch them for sheer charm. They crown a woman with importance, they soften her face and cast it in becoming shadows. The hat sketched today, designed by Laddie Northbridge, is of light beige felt with a round brim and a mushroom crown. Pale feathers make a halo around the brim.

YANKS ESCAPE INJURY IN TWO GALE

IWA JIMA, Oct. 18 (AP)—Wind-weary American servicemen and their 24 dependent families emerged without casualties from storm shelters early this morning after 36 hours' concealment from a vicious typhoon which howled across this battlefield island at speeds reaching 170 miles an hour.

But damage to installations was extensive. The winds smashed like giant hands on scores of buildings, ripped out the island's inner communications system and snatched the flagpole off Mt. Suribachi, linked in history with the U. S. marines who captured this one-time Japanese bastion.

The typhoon struck hardest at buildings on which maintenance had been allowed to lag. Nearly half of two Jima buildings are Quonset huts, and the wind ripped through some of them like a giant can-opener while stomping others flat.

Ex-Gls Facing VA Job Loss Plan Protest

Scores of young war veterans facing loss of their jobs with the Veterans Administration here today planned a protest meeting to be held at 150 State st.

They are among 280 temporary employees, most of them working in the insurance division of the VA regional office, who will be replaced in the next 10 months by federal workers with permanent Civil Service ratings whose previous jobs were wiped out by the Congressional economy drive.

The veterans claimed only workers paid less than $50 a week are affected, and the move is in violation of a promise from Omar Bradley, head of the VA, that employees with satisfactory records will not be dismissed unless they are "unable to accept transfer or reassignment as may be necessary."

The protesting group said they would appeal to Bay State Senators, congressmen, veterans' organizations and the Civil Service Commission in the fight to hold their jobs.

A spokesman for the VA said the discharges are the result of Civil Service action and do not represent VA policy. He said the group to be dismissed is made up of war service and temporary workers only, and that disabled veterans will be among the permanent employees hired.

He also said the 280 would be replaced in batches of about 28 per month so the servicing of GI insurance premiums for an area which embraces 1,250,000 war veterans will not be impeded.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, FRIDAY, OCT. 10, 1967

Effectively borrowing from Robert Montgomery's through-the-hero's-eye camera technique in "Lady in the Lake," the director has you view the action through Bogart's eyes, he impersonating a cruelly-wronged fugitive from justice hiding in the West Coast city's picturesque hills.

The film has mood and atmosphere, starring performances by an assortment of minor characters and some enriching incidents whose originality and effectiveness mark Daves as a writer-director to latch onto.

The centenary of Alice Meynell's birth will be observed at Boston College tomorrow, with an exhibition of the late English poetess' first editions and original manuscripts.

The exhibition will open with a symposium under direction of Rev. Terence L. Connolly, S. J., librarian of the college and personal friend of the Meynell family.

Seats are now on sale for the Tributary Theater's production of Bernard Shaw's famous comedy, "Candida," which is the second production in the repertory Friday and Saturday evening series at New England Mutual Hall.

Red Skelton Comedy Due at Loew's Screens

Metro's newest comedy, Red Skelton's "Merton of the Movies," and one of its most insistently demanded reissues, the all-star studded "The Women," are teamed for the new bill beginning tomorrow on Loew's twin screens.

In "Merton of the Movies," Skelton plays the role of a movie-struck movie usher who leaves the friendly security of Tinkerton, Kans., for the perils of Hollywood in its "silent" era. Virginia O'Brien and Gloria Grahame are featured with Skelton.

Maurice Chevalier is expected to arrive in New York next week to attend the American premiere of "Man About Town," the romantic comedy in which he is co-starred with Francois Perrier and a young newcomer, Marcelle Derrien, at New York's Bijou Theater Wednesday, Oct. 22.

Rene Clair, for whom the RKO-Pathé Cinema production marks the resumption of his place as a figure in the Paris film studios after an absence of nearly 12 years, wrote the original story, and went to Paris to produce and direct it.

By PEGGY DOYLE

With that surpassing charm that cements an instant friendship with the audience and a tenor voice that is in excellent form, he registered a solid hit at yesterday's opening show.

From the first notes, "I Feel a Song Comin' On," to his clamorously applauded get-away number he was set with a capacity house of new and old admirers. These were "Sentimental Reasons," "Irish Lullabye," the ecstatically received "Peg O' My Heart" (which he has recently recorded) and "Donegal," sung with a hint of a brogue.

The Slate Brothers, that internationally famed threesome who clicked so sensationally in "Winged Victory," preceded the onetime New York policeman from Brooklyn, flinging newspapers and the remark, "if you don't like our act read these," to the audiences, they opened to resounding, unanimous laughter. Sharp as the creases in Regan's trousers, the Slates kept the house in what is known as rocking with laughter. Their act, one explained, was a sequel to March of Time . . . Loss of Time. Time has rarely been so merrily lost. A handsome girl, Fay Carroll, introduced as Hildegard's sister, Mudguard, sang a while they heckled her and the customary complimentary remarks.

Another top act is Think-a-Drink Hoffman, celebrated in show business as the world's highest paid bartender.

British Rene Ray an Actress
And Writer of 3 Books at 23

By PEGGY DOYLE
At 23 British actress Rene Ray has appeared in some 40 plays and films, has written three books, designed the jacket for one of them and, on the other list, decries ambition. No, this is not one of those what's - wrong-with-this-question jokes. Miss Ray, who accomplished a most successful American debut at Plymouth's opening of the Plymouth's "An Inspector Calls," doesn't talk to hear the sound of her voice although it makes nice music. She believes that ambition destroys people and that it should not be urged on children. "They should be helped to know how rewarding it is to do a task or a job to the best of their ability," she told me yesterday at lunch in the Ritz-Carlton's buzzing-with-talk dining-room. Since she, an actress from the age of 14, has such an impressive background of accomplishment, it would seem that she might have something worth-while to say to aspiring young people. "I'd advise them to fix a star and go after it . . . and never to be swayed by what others might say. Older people who have failed sometimes are negative or discouraging in the face of a young person's enthusiasm. They may not recognize it as such but I think it is jealousy. I think you yourself don't know what you can do and that if you heed people who caution against attempting the difficult you will never realize your potentialities. You must have a reserve in your nature. Listen to people's opinions but don't be swayed by them. I firmly believe that if you try to do the best you can do you get help. "And don't look for reward. The reward comes if the thing you are doing is right." The war, the thoughtful young actress, was frank to say, had changed her. When the wasn't on the war front for ENSA (Britain's USO) entertaining the soldiers during the war, she lived alone in the family house near Epsom where the Derby is run. "It is so unfair to criticize you Americans for not reacting the same way about the war as those of us who lived through it. No one can know second-hand what it was like - you had to be in it."

Virgin's Statue Rose Test Refused

STOCKPORT, England, Oct. 10 (INS)—A parish priest denied British horticulturists permission today to examine 22 yellow roses that have stood unfaded before a statue of the Virgin Mary for five months.

The priest, Rev. James Turner of St. Mary's Church, commented: "I am not interested in their hypotheses and theories."

Britain's foremost rose expert, Oliver Mer, viewed the flowers from a distance and said they appeared to have been cut in the bud stage.

Fr. Turner does not call the continued freshness of the golden roses "a miracle." They have received no water since they were placed before the Virgin's statue.

He has forwarded a report on the phenomenon to the Vatican, six hundred persons attended a mid-week service at the church last night. Usually only about 70 participate.

60 Dario Anxious To Keep Peace In N. E. Racing

By JACK CONWAY

B. A. DARIO, managing director of Lincoln Downs, told this writer that he is anxious to make a peaceful date arrangement with rival New England tracks as we had luncheon in the Turf Club at Lincoln Downs.

"This year, our Pascoag-Lincoln Downs combination was granted 115 days of racing," said Dario. "I do not wish such a long program for 1948. We took 115 days of racing because the State of Rhode Island needed revenue, and we also wished to place ourselves in a position where we could show some strength.

"I would have preferred spending some of this time selling automobiles or going yachting. I was only able to use my yacht one day during the summer as a result of being kept busy at Pascoag and Lincoln Downs."

Asked to give his conditions for peace with Suffolk Downs, Rockingham Park and Narragansett Park, Dario said:

"I would settle for 60 to 70 days of racing. I would like 30 to 35 days of summer or spring racing without competition, while I would take 30 to 35 days of racing in the fall with Rockingham Park running at the same time with equal purses. There is so much distance between Lincoln Downs and Rockingham that if we were to offer the same purses I think both tracks would do well.

"We do not intend to fight Suffolk Downs alone in 1948 if there is to be a track war. We shall expect Narragansett Park, which is served by trains, to run in opposition to Suffolk Downs for at least 30 days.

"I have not any feud with John Pappas, Lou Smith or anyone else, and I think the sensible thing to do would be for the representatives of the four major tracks, Suffolk Downs, Rockingham Park, Narragansett Park and Lincoln Downs, to get together and make an agreement that will prevent as many conflicts as possible."

Racing War Will Injure Rival Tracks

DARIO ASSERTED a bitter racing war would injure all of the tracks.

"With the cost of living skyrocketing," Dario went on, "there will be less betting money in 1948. There has been a decline in wagering this year, and the downward trend will continue until living costs are reduced. If there is a racing war, race track incomes will be reduced, and some track may even be forced out of business.

"At Lincoln Downs, we have had only two losing days this season, and they were during the summer meeting. We have a lower overhead than the other tracks. While we never have tried to offer top purses, we get a good grade of horses, and the finishes are usually close and exciting."

Dario looked out at the track where a field of eight horses was rushing through the stretch. Four of the thoroughbreds were bunched at the finish line.

"One could not get a better finish even if Whirlaway were in the race," said Dario with a chuckle.

Dario voiced the sentiments of Henry Lapan, president, and Francis P. Smith, who later joined our party, on the matter of avoiding racing conflicts.

Pappas Key to N. E. Racing Situation

JUDGE JOHN PAPPAS, J. Arthur Warner and their associates at Suffolk Downs are the keys to the New England racing situation.

Lou Smith of Rockingham Park has already gone on record for a peaceful settlement of the date situation, while Judge James E. Dooley of Narragansett Park has always been against conflicts.

Suffolk Downs had 68 days of racing this season. There is already talk it will seek 90 days of racing in 1948. Chairman Harry Allen of the Massachusetts Racing Commission is against date clashes, but he told this writer that, if the other tracks are not willing to make concessions, his board will give Suffolk Downs what help it can. This would mean 90 days of racing at the East Boston track.

Lincoln Downs Is Modern Racing Plant

LINCOLN DOWNS has the most modern racing plant in the country. Mark Lienthal was the architect. He also helped build Suffolk Downs, Narragansett Park and Monmouth Park. He says he eliminated the mistakes made in the other tracks and added every modern improvement at Lincoln Downs.

One can have luncheon at one of the tables on the terrace in the clubhouse and get a perfect view of the races. The Turf Club also offers racing luxury and a good view of the action on the track.

Hap Fenelon, state steward, told this writer that racing has been good at Lincoln Downs. Arthur Gaigard is the steward representing the horsemen, while Wilmer Brinton and James H. Doreley are the other stewards.

Gordon Morrow is the racing secretary and Jimmy Picarillo, secretary of the Massachusetts Fairs, is clerk of scales. All are rooting for peace in racing.

B. C. to Face Kansas Tonight With 3 Regulars Sidelined

With three first stringers on the injured list, Coach Denny Myers has had to revamp his starting lineup at Boston College for the Eagles' game against the Kansas State Wildcats under the lights at Braves Field tonight. Ed Clasby, quarterback, Dom Papaleo, guard, and Ed "Butch" Songin will all out tonight's tilt. Clasby pulled up with a "Charley horse" in Thursday's practice session. Capable Steve Stuka will take over the ball-handling chores for the Heighlanders. A member of last season's team, Stuka was somewhat overshadowed by the efforts of Don Panciera and Clasby, but is a cool performer in his own right.

He's an adept signal-caller, good ball-handler, and effective passer. A 160-pound sophomore from Clinton, Stuka should fill the gap against Kansas State.

Ill with the flu, Papaleo, burly 220-pound right guard from Cambridge, will find Everett's Mario "Yoyo" Gianelli in his position. Gianelli, a 245-pound senior, will move over from left guard. Blond Arthur Donovan, 235-pound giant from the Bronx, N. Y., will move up into Gianelli's post.

Donovan has been impressive in intra-squad scrimmages. A blocker, he breaks through the enemy defenses often and the Eagle forward wall should suffer no loss of efficiency.

Diminutive Joe Diminick, the lad who stole the show in the Clemson opener, will open at left half in place of shifty Al Cannava. A modest boy, Jim Benedetto, a veteran campaigner from Swampscott, probably will start at right halfback.

Ed Songin suffered a painful bruise on his heel against Clemson. The wound has failed to heal completely, so rather than take a chance of aggravating the injury, he will sit out the game. Sophomore Bill Morro, a 195-pound line smasher from Providence, will replace Songin.

Another player slated to see a lot of service against the Wildcats is Willie DeRosa, who probably will share the fulcrum job with Morro. Not considered too potent, Kansas State will provide Myers an opportunity to use the majority of his squad. Backs such as Jackie Farrell, Maurice Poissant, Bernie Lanoue, Tom Brennan, Al Cannava and Jim Cahill should see plenty of service.

Kansas State arrived at Logan Airport last night and worked out the kinks at Braves Field under the lights. The Wildcats made the trip from Manhattan, Kan. in chartered planes and stopped at Dayton and Pittsburgh. They're staying at the Sheraton while in the Hub.

B. C. also worked out at the Alton ball-yard last night.

Bill Church, sophomore quarterback, appears to be one of the Wildcats' offensive threats. In their last season, against New Mexico University, he completed three consecutive passes for 60 yards and a touchdown.

Sam Francis, former All-America at Nebraska, is the new head mentor at Kansas State. This is his first season in collegiate circles. While in the service, he coached a team at Camp Lee, Va., and turned out a first rate outfit.

A player with the Chicago Bears he picked up some of the finer points of the tricky T-formation and has installed it at Kansas. He also was a standout short-punter, competing on the 1936 U. S. Olympic team in Berlin.

amounting to approximately $5800, it was learned today.

Thirty-two members of the losing Brooklyn Dodgers will get approximately $4000 each and two others on the club will get half-shares, it was understood.

The official total receipts for the seven-game World Series, which ended last Monday, were $1,781,348.92, of which the players divided $493,674.82, according to a statement issued from baseball commissioner A. B. Chandler's office today. The players participated only in the receipts from the first four games.

After taxes, the Yankees' take was $207,343.42 and for Brooklyn it was $138,228.95.

Players on each team finishing second in the pennant race—St. Louis in the National and Detroit in the American League—will divide $37,025.62 each.

The third place Boston club in both loops will receive $24,683.74 apiece to distribute among the athletes while the fourth place teams—New York in the National and Cleveland in the American—will get $12,341.87 each to pass around.

Each winning club and each league got $255,117.91 out of the series.

The cut for the commissioner's office amounted to $267,202.33. Total attendance for the series was 389,763.

It was not learned what New York Yankee player was voted the three-fourth share, nor who the two Dodgers were who received half-shares.

JULIAN'S CONDITION GOOD

KEARNS AGAIN

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10 (AP)—Manager Jack Kearns predicts Jory Maxin will beat "Blackjack Billy" Fox—perhaps by knockout—in their heavyweight bout here Oct. 20.

Kearns, one-time manager of Jack Dempsey, said: "If I didn't think he could whip Fox I certainly would not have taken this fight. In fact, Joe has a good chance of being the one to land a knockout punch."

Northeastern University will have at least four new starters tomorrow in its home opener against Fort Devens.

Illinois Big Favorite To End Army's Streak

By BILL GRIMES

Although the B. U.-N. Y. U. and the Northeastern-Ft. Devens games are the only gridiron tilts scheduled to be played in this immediate vicinity, the morrow will offer many major attractions throughout the country.

There are two big games listed for New York. The Army will clash with Illinois in the Yankee Stadium and the Columbia Lions will be hosts to Yale at Baker Field. The grid fans who cannot get ducks for those games can see Fordham and Penn State mix it up at the Polo Grounds.

The Cadets have rolled through three seasons without a defeat. But they will be the underdogs tomorrow. That is the way Coach "Red" Blaik prefers it. The Fighting Illini acquired great prestige via their Rose Bowl victory over the Uclans. Col. Blaik, however, is too cozy a coach to warrant selling the Army short. The Kaydets have lost Felix Blanchard, Glenn Davis and Arnold Tucker but the departure from Champaign of "Buddy" Young by no means strengthens Coach Ray Eliot's 1946 Big Nine champions.

Frank Leahy and his Fighting Irish are at Lafayette, Ind., for their setto with the Purdue Boilermakers, whom they flattened, 49 to 6, a year ago while on their way to the national championship.

The scouts and experts who have seen Virginia predict a victory for the Cavaliers over Harvard at Charlottesville, Va., and, for publication, Head Coach Dick Harlow is skeptical over the outcome. In all probability, the Dartmouth bubble will burst tomorrow when the Big Green tackles the wearers of Penn's red and blue. The Indians outought Holy Cross and were awarded a scoreless tie. Then they came up with an offense which swept them through Syracuse. But Penn is a horse of a different color, and it looks bad for "Tuss" McLaughry's charges. It will be well worth the trip to Worcester to watch the Crusaders tangle with the Villanova Wildcats. Holy Cross staged a comeback last week against Temple. If the Purple comes through tomorrow, they'll have fairly plain sailing until they bump into Lou Little's Columbia's Lions.

The Northeastern Huskies hope to crash the games won column at the expense of Coach Bob Davis' University of Massachusetts at Ft. Devens Glis. They have been slugged around by Springfield College and the University of Maine, and believe it is time they retaliated.

It will be interesting to observe if the spirit of the undergraduates at Boston Univ. has sagged down since the Harvard game. The Terriers will meet NYU tomorrow afternoon at Fenway Park. They do not expect too much opposition from the Violets but would appreciate a large turnout of alumni and undergrads.

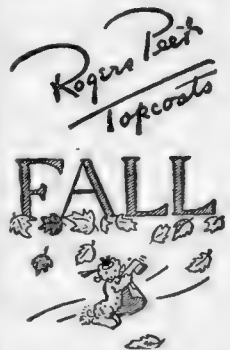

Coach "Ducky" Pond's Bates Bobcats suffered their first defeat since 1945 at the hands of Trinity last week. So they'll be a snarling, fighting bunch when they take on the undefeated Tufts Jumbos at Lewiston. Bowdoin will be at Amherst, playing the Lord Jeffs, and Maine at Durham, tangling with the New Hampshire Wildcats. The latter should be a fine contest. With the exception of Norwich, the Vermont elvens are playing away from home. Springfield College will visit Northfield. To play the "Horsemen." The Univ. of Vermont will go across the New York State line to battle Union; Middlebury will be at Trinity, and little St. Michael's will be guest of American International College at Springfield.

H. C. STAR END AILING

WORCESTER, Oct. 10 (AP) —Epid Tom Kelleher, who caught a touchdown pass last week against Temple, is a doubtful starter for Holy Cross against a powerful, but so far thwarted, Villanova team here tomorrow. The injury he received against Temple has failed to respond to treatment.

Single Wing vs. T In Pro Clash

Advocates of single wing attack will have their inning Sunday afternoon when Dr. John Bann Sutherland, better known as "Jock," proves that the old Warner offense is far from archaic as presented by his Pittsburgh Steelers. They say that "T" is the attack today but, be that as it may, Clipper Smith, Boston Yanks mentor, is plenty concerned about stopping the Sutherland charges Sunday.

On the surface, the Sutherland attack, which seems to be nothing more than off-tackle, a sweep, a reverse and a few pass plays should be easy to stop, yet the records show that Sutherland has one of the greatest victory records of any coach in the business.

The story to those on the inside is simple—Sutherland's off-tackle smash isn't the simple play that the fan in the stand apparently sees. He has no less than 13 variations of that off-tackle smash and the many phases are so power-laden that stopping the smashes is a mighty tough task.

Columbia, Yale Well Matched

By FRANK LEAHY

Head Coach at Notre Dame

The football spotlight turns East this week. New York comes up with the prize games when Army clashes with Illinois and Columbia takes on Yale. In addition, Manhattan fans will have a chance to see powerful Penn State go against an out-matched Fordham.

Several pertinent questions will be answered during the Army-Illinois game. Experts say this year's Illinois team is stronger than the one which won the Conference title and the Rose Bowl game last season. And the experts are beginning to shift back to Army, a team which has won more and more respect with each passing week.

Illinois may be the outfit to snap the Cadets' record of 30 games without defeat, but we doubt it.

Columbia and Yale are beautifully matched. Both lines play a heads-up, smashing type of ball. And in Lou Kusserow and Fred Nachterny the Lions and Bulldogs offer as sweet a pair of hard-running backs as you'll find in the nation. We think Columbia will again rise to superb heights and win, but no matter what happens the game is sure to produce a World Series type of thrills for the New York fans.

Cornell and Colgate clash in another outstanding offering in the East.

Harvard is sure to have a fight on its hands down in Virginia. Boston fans should witness two victories tonight when Boston College faces Kansas and Boston University engages N. Y. U.

Aside from the Virginia-Harvard battle, the South is fairly quiet this week. Georgia Tech and Georgia are highly favored over V. M. I. and Kentucky, respectively, while L. S. U. tackles Texas A. and M. and North Carolina, stunned by Texas' speed, faces Wake Forest on the rebound. Blair Cherry's amazing Texas Longhorns are set to outspeed Oklahoma in the big game in the Southwest. U. C. L. A. takes on Oregon in the first Conference showing for the Uclan in defense of its Coast honors.

Here in the Mid-West, Ohio State entertains Southern California and Wisconsin tees off against Lynn Waldorf's omnivorous Bears from California. Notre Dame faces Purdue and we hope to improve on our first half showing against Pitt. We had better. Michigan's Juggernaut promises another rough afternoon for Mike Milligan's Men.

Last week's rash of upsets was a little rough on prognosticators. We had 20 wins, 10 defeats and 3 ties, giving us a season's total of 39 victories, 16 defeats and 4 ties. Our selections for a more hopeful week are in the next column on this page.

Leahy's next column will appear in Monday's America.

Penn Choice At Dartmouth

MANOVER, N. H., Oct. 10—Pennsylvania's mighty football powerhouse invades Memorial Field here tomorrow afternoon to meet a Dartmouth eleven primed to make things interesting for the Ivy League champions during their first visit to the Big Green's own gridiron.

This 18th battle between tomorrow's foes promises to be one of the top intercollegiate attractions Dartmouth has ever offered in home environs. The local backers are convinced that last year's 39-6 pasting handed out to the Indians will not be repeated against the current hard tackling, spirited eleven that Coach Tass McLaughry will send into the fray for this tilt.

Since the resumption of this 51 year old series in 1943, the Red and Blue has had things pretty much its own way. In the last four games Pennsylvania has scored 141 points to the Indian's 18.

On the basis of experience, depth of manpower and physical strength, Pennsylvania is highly favored to continue outclassing the Dartmouth's who wouldn't be given even an outside chance of holding the visitors if it weren't for the fact that the present McLaughry machine rates as the most determined eleven Dartmouth has fielded in many seasons.

Schoolboy Grid Schedule Packed With Action for Holiday Weekend

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Take a schoolboy football schedule; add a holiday week-end; grant the boys the use of floodlights for their stadiums and you'll wind up with another program of grid action that will find the kids struggling to straighten out their Class races in every nook and corner of greater Boston for the next 96 hours.

Even the Hub schoolboys will be joining the parade with a spicy double-header scheduled for Monday afternoon at the Dust Bowl, subtly referred to as the Fens Stadium.

The teams will swing into their first set of contests tonight with Manning Bowl, Lynn, offering a solution to the housing problem as Peabody tangles with Beverly; tomorrow, the spotlight will continue to glow on the North Shore where the Everett club will be attracting an overflow crowd to Bertram Field for the Salem clash; Sunday, the Catholic League's will be back at their usual stands, while Monday, the Fens and the Lynn luxury grounds will again hold the major share of attention.

Everett, off its steam-roller over Somerville last week, has taken over the leading role in the chase for the Class A crown.

It's apparent that once again Coach Dennie Gildea has a raging, wild-fire club that has plenty of poundage in the front line; plenty of fire in the backfield and the will to swing back into a winning spree after a poor (for an Everett team) showing of last fall. From tackle to tackle—Joe Donohue and Ken Doig, 205-pounds; Joe Puopolo and Rudy Scenna, 200, and center Eddie Leo, 185—the team presents five rugged blocks of granite.

The Crimson Tide has racked up 3-in-a-row now without showing too much, and they'll be out to make up for their 20-13 loss to the Witches of last year.

Salem, slow to start, has failed to develop as well as Coach Glenn O'Brien had anticipated. The team has recovered from its shock of a loss to Lynn English so that the Witches will still be very dangerous for any of the top-notchers along the remainder of the schedule. But they'll be in the underdog role against this giant Everett team, which will be eyeing its "game of the year" a week later.

The secondary feature of the Saturday card will find Medford, still undefeated, picking up its traditional series with Somerville in the neutral Pearl St. Stadium, Malden. Coach Tom O'Connor's Mustangs, paced by Tom Kelley, have an uphill climb to the top of the A ratings after enforced idleness caused by the police scare that cost the team some valuable time.

This game usually features Columbus Day programs but it has been moved ahead, clearing the way for the Haverhill-Lynn Classical meeting to headline the Monday attractions. . . . As a replacement on the holiday, Cambridge Latin and Rindge Tech will battle it out for the Cantab City crown. . . . They'll meet at 10:30 a. m. at Russell Field. . . . In the Hub ranks, the doubleheader will match English vs. Tech and B. C. High vs. Latin.

Tufts' Captain Ready for Bates

For the first time this season, Capt. Hop McKinnor will be the starting quarterback when Tufts plays Bates tomorrow at Lewiston, Me.

Thirteen lettermen will be among the 33 players traveling to Maine eager to avenge last year's defeat at the hands of Bates.

Tackle Eddie Schlutz is injured and his place will be taken by Bruce Reed, a converted center.

TODAY A YEAR AGO—
Slaughter, Garagiola and Murovski each got four hits as Cardinals defeated Red Sox, 12-5, to even World Series.

SAME LINEUP

LEWISTON, Me., Oct. 10 (AP)—The same Bates lineup which started last week against Trinity will answer the opening whistle Saturday against Tufts.
